IMPORTANT.—As Announcements for this column, if posted on Saturday, cannot reach this office in time for Monday's paper, they should be sent by telegram.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

Mr. A. J. Wilsdon and family wish to thank their many friends for their kind letters and telegrams of sympathy in their recent bereavement. They find it impossible to reply individually, and hope they will accept this notice.

IN MEMORIAM.

STANLEY—In sad and ever fond remembrance of my dearest husband, William Stanley, R.I.C., who was cruelly murdered at Feakle, 7th October, 1920.

My heart is with you, dearest one,
As in your grave you lay,
Regret is all that is left me now,
You are twelve months dead to-day.

One weary year for me has passed
In sorrow, grief, and pain.
No one like you I'll ever find
Until we meet again.

Cheerless this world without you, love,
Ah! once 'twas fair and bright;
Now here no more I'll see your face,
Except in dreams at night.

TOBIN—First Anniversary—In sad and loving memory of Mrs. Annie Tobin, who departed this life at 4 Sorrento terrace, Dalkey, on October 7th, 1920. R.I.P. Sacred Heart of Jesus, have mercy on her.

Our portrait is of Mrs. M. Mace, of 97 Brettell lane, Stourbridge, who writes:—

"For 8 years I suffered with a terrible wound, stretching from the abdomen to the right hip; during that time I tried doctors' and patent medicines innumerable, but without success. At length I was persuaded to try 'Clarke's Blood Mixture,' and after taking the first bottle began to see an improvement, which has continued, with the result that my wound is healed, and I now have no pain. I am writing this testimony so that other sufferers like myself may have the benefit of your marvellous medicine." In a further recent letter, nearly two years later, Mrs. Mace writes:—"I am happy to say that there has been no recurrence of my complaint, and consider my case a very satisfactory one."

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swelling, Rheumatism, Gout. Pleasant to take, and free from anything injurious.

Ask for, and see you get,

Clarke's Blood Mixture

WHEN MEAT WAS 5D. PER LB.

BIG FALL IN PORK PRICES.

When the price of meat was 5d. per lb. was recalled at a meeting of the Enniscorthy Guardians yesterday. Mr. Connolly (the Clerk) stated that in 1915, when the best cattle were selling in the Dublin markets at from 46s. to 48s. per cwt., live weight, the Guardians were being supplied with meat at 5d. per lb. At last week's Dublin market cattle prices were from 35s. to 55s. per cwt., and the lowest tender the Guardians had received for meat was 1s. 5d. per lb.

Mr. M. Nolan said that the farmers were being robbed. There was no reason in the world why meat should be 1s. 5d. per lb.

The Clerk said that at most public boards in Ireland meat was now being supplied at 10d. and 11d. per lb.

As the Guardians considered 1s. 5d. per lb. an excessive price, they decided to invite fresh tenders for supplies.

The price for fat pigs in Enniscorthy has fallen from £4 10s. to £4 4s. per cwt., live weight.

Butter is being bought at from 9d. to 1s. 2d. per lb.; eggs, 2s. 3d. per dozen; best quality chickens, 9d. per lb.; milk, 6d. per quart; potatoes, 9d. per stone.

Barley fetched 26s. to 28s. per barrel, and oats 12s. 6d. to 13s. per do.

In Dungannon market yesterday pork dropped to £5 10s. per cwt., this being a decrease of almost 30s. within the week.

A drop of £1 5s. per cwt. in the price of pork occurred at Clones weekly market yesterday. A week ago £6 and over was paid in the same market, while yesterday pork sold from £4 10s. to £4 15s., and in a few cases £5 was paid.

In Lurgan market yesterday pork fell £1 per cwt. since last week.

Potatoes sold as low in Lurgan yesterday as 2s. 6d. per cwt., and Skerries 5s. per cwt. There were very large supplies.

LANDING OF IRISH CATTLE AT BIRKENHEAD.

Our Liverpool Correspondent wires:—Complaints have arisen of delay in the landing at Birkenhead of United States and Canadian cattle destined for the meat markets of England. Yesterday Colonel Concannon, of the White Star Line, addressed questions on the point to the Traffics Committee of the Mersey Dock Board, stating that the delay was extremely serious, not only to the meat trade, but to shipowners who depended upon cattle freights, low as they were, to provide the difference between profit and loss of a voyage. Mr. A. W. Wilmer said protests had been received from ocean-carrying companies of insufficient accommodation for the cattle landed, and protests were also forthcoming from Irish cattle traders that some of their accommodation had been transferred to the American trade. It was now proposed to devote the Birkenhead lairages to the Irish trade, and the Wallasey lairages to the foreign trade. Accommodation would be provided for 3,866 Irish and 1,989 foreign cattle. He believed this would be ample for the needs of the entire trade, save in exceptional circumstances, when other temporary accommodation would be provided.

STORE CATTLE SALE.

MESSRS. GANLY, SONS, AND CO.'S REPORT—The entries for this week's sale were smaller, and, with lower prices for beef, buyers were in a cautious mood; trade was, therefore, slow, and prices receded still further. There were no lots of exceptional merit this week, but nice lots of three-year-old polly bullocks fetched from £26 to £32; shorthorn heifers made up to £25 10/-, Aberdeen-Angus cross bullocks £28 5/-. All the good cattle, except a few lots, were sold, but some middling young cattle were turned out unsold.

The Chicago Tribune, Paris edition, learns from Riga that, following on the visit to Russia by the Canadian member of Parliament, Mr. Mackie, it is expected that a Russo-Canadian commercial agreement will be concluded.

THE ART OF THE THEATRE.

The author of "A History of Theatrical Art in Ancient and Modern Times" will receive the hearty congratulations of the readers of his sixth and final volume; for he has come to the conclusion of a labour of love which he began twenty years ago. It is a long time to bestow upon the production of a work, but no one who reads this last volume can doubt that the time has been well spent. In some respects Dr. Karl Mantzius possesses singular advantages for his task. He is himself an actor of note. He held a leading position in the Royal Theatre of Copenhagen and has been constantly employed both as actor and stage-manager. In spite of his arduous life, however, he has found time for this fine piece of scholarship.

In all the six volumes there cannot be a more interesting one than the sixth. In it Dr. Mantzius covers, as regards England, such people as Goldsmith and Sheridan, Mrs. Siddons and the Kembles, and Edmund Kean. The book is adorned with particularly good illustrations, which enhance its value. We incline to Dr. Johnson's opinion that we want to see the portrait of the man or woman about whom we are reading, and in this respect the volume would have earned his hearty approval. The second part deals with Talma and the Romanticists. Here, and indeed throughout the book, we were struck with the fine sense of proportion which the author possesses.

There is an account of Talma which rivets the reader's attention. Dr. Mantzius notes carefully the influence of Talma's sojourn in London on his development. He points out that the great French actor acquired from it a close acquaintance with the English language and with English ways. It made him familiar also with our literature and dramatic art—a familiarity which he cultivated with passionate zeal. He fell under the spell of Shakespeare, and was able to see and study the performance of the master's works in their native land. Kemble formed a school, whereas Talma did nothing of the sort. His artistic method, as the author shows, involved a complete breach with the old-fashioned, pre-revolutionary traditions; but he was at the same time a prophet, a harbinger of the dawn of Romanticism, a personality peculiar and apart. He might be imitated, but was ill fitted to train up disciples, because his theory was in so many respects in conflict with his practice.

One evening, after Talma had acted as Charles IX., a young man in the uniform of a captain of Artillery came up to him in the company of Michaut, an actor. Michaut introduced the officer, who remarked to the great actor, "M. Talma, you were excellent as Charles IX. Only you made him, perhaps, a somewhat gloomier character than he actually was."

"Why, M. Le Captaine," Talma said, "it seems to me that the King who was the author of the Massacre of Saint Bartholomew——".

"'Oh, let us get our facts clear, M. Talma,' said he, leading me across to a sofa; 'it was not the poor little Kinglet, Charles IX., that was the author of the Massacre of St. Bartholomew; he was utterly incapable of hatching out a plan like that. . . . It was to his mother, Catherine the Florentine; it was to the Guises, and especially the Cardinal of Lorraine, the ablest politician of the whole family, that that notorious night of the 24th of August was due. Charles IX. only played confidant—not exactly what you theatrical people call a super, but quite a minor part.'

"'Then what is your conception of Charles IX.?'

"'Oh, a nervous, melancholy young man. By the way, you brought out very well the stamp of fatality that men who die young always show.'

"'Then you believe in the existence of such marks of destiny?'

"'Assuredly I do. The mark may not be on the man's forehead; but, if not, be sure it lies hidden in his heart. There are few great men, I am certain, who have not a presentiment of their greatness. As to Charles IX., he was certainly not naturally a bad man. He had to bow to political necessity.'

"'Religious, I suppose you mean.'

"'No, no! make no mistake, M. Talma. Assuming that the night of St. Bartholomew was a crime at all, it was certainly not a crime of religion. It was a political act, pure and simple. The question to be decided was not whether the Mass was to be celebrated in Latin or in French, but whether the House of Valois was to continue to reign, or the House of Bourbon, or the House of Condé to ascend the throne.' Needless to say, the young artillery captain was Napoleon."

We have left ourselves little space to write of Weimar and the Romantic School. There is a good account of the French Romantic School, and the ability of Dr. Mantzius supplies us with material for a comparison and a contrast of the two schools.

IRISH SOLICITORS.

This is a brief, but comprehensive, sketch of the history and development of the solicitors' profession in Ireland during the last three hundred years, with special reference to the work performed by the Council of the Incorporated Law Society in forwarding the interests of the profession. Mr. Gamble explains the constitutional changes which led eventually to the solicitors gaining complete control of their own affairs by ousting the Benchers. He inspires an appreciation of those who laboured so hard in the interests of posterity.

Mr. Gamble writes, as he speaks, very attractively. He brings home to the profession the fact that the Incorporated Law Society has done much, if not all, that lifts legal pursuits from being merely work, and he pleads for a wider measure of support and a better esprit de corps. Members enter a profession which has been made at least comfortable for them by their public-spirited predecessors; but, in view of probable developments in national affairs, the legal profession stands in need of the loyal co-operation of all that have its interests at heart. Everything that concerns the benefits, work, and property of the Law Society concerns Ireland, and it is only by unity, irrespective of political partition, that solicitors can maintain the traditions of their calling.

The book is the result of painstaking historical research, and as a text-book alone will be appreciated by the legal profession. Its arguments are sound and unlaboured, and Mr. Gamble must be counted among those who have devoted valuable time to the interests of their professional brethren.

MR. GALSWORTHY'S PLAYS.

There is something a little disappointing in Mr. Galsworthy's new volume of short plays. His technique and dramatic skill are undeniable; yet the impression which he leaves upon the reader is that his art has become with him a science and that high inspiration is lacking. There is an inclination to draw too sharp distinctions—to be too cut and dry in the treatment of the various characters—and a straining towards symmetry which gives an artificial effect. "The First and the Last" is the best of this collection. Here the author forces the reader to visualise the scene in a sense which is not applicable to "The Sun," an elusive little play that would require, perhaps more than any of the others, a very sympathetic interpretation on the stage. Three of the plays are light comedies, but here Mr. Galsworthy's humour is sardonic. There is generally a sneer underlying his attempts at gaiety, and he is best in the more serious type of drama.

SOCIALISM AND LIBERTY.

Mr. Dell's book seems to us to be a confused piece of writing. He adopts a familiar line of argument. The present scheme of society is out of joint. Let us try another scheme—namely, Socialism. It never seems to occur to men like Mr. Dell that Socialism will have its own evils. It means, for example, bureaucracy, and, in spite of the author, it can mean nothing else. Government control is not at present in favour. Judged by its results, why should it be in favour? Every form of Socialism, even guild Socialism, means extended control over the individual, and this extended control cannot conduce to personal liberty. The present system is not ideal, but the socialistic system is even farther removed from the ideal.

THE ROADMENDER.

Lovers of Michael Fairless and her incomparable little classic, "The Roadmender," should not hesitate to procure for themselves a copy of the new illustrated edition published by Messrs. Duckworth. It contains twenty photographs taken by Mr. W. F. Taylor—evidently an artist in his profession, for he has caught the very breath and spirit of the Sussex Downs which are so exquisitely described in "The Roadmender." "The white winding road" is a little masterpiece of photography, with its delicate lights and shades, but it is only one among many that deserve to be singled out for special praise.

RECENT FICTION.

This book is rendered notable by the character of Laura Creighton (elder daughter of General Sir Harry Creighton, a personage at Woolwich), which is unfolded with rare power and tenderness. Laura is a gentle girl, used to being lovingly bullied by her parents and a slangy young sister; but she finds herself, as it were, when Paul Vortonitch stumbles accidentally across her path. Paul is a Polish Anarchist, bent upon making the destruction of Woolwich his life-work, but of this the simple, generous girl knows nothing. Unguessed depths of tenancity and endurance are revealed in Laura as the story progresses. Her runaway marriage, which transplants her from luxury into the sordid environment of Paul and his kind, is a disaster; but we feel that her growth would be incomplete without it. There is a haven awaiting Laura into which she drifts at last.

It is all the doing of the blue hat. Jim Stirling, an enthusiastic young painter, braves the interior of a fashionable hat-shop to purchase the article owing to its wonderful colour, and falls straightway in love with the demure little girl who effects the sale. There is an elusive mysterious quality in the fascination of "Min-Choo," as Jim calls her—finding in her something Chinese—and it is impossible to guess that such inscrutability covers nothing more than a genius for making hats. Nor can cityfied Min-Choo know that her married life will prove one long horror of loneliness while Jim, the colour-worshipper, feasts his senses upon Nature out of doors. Their existence on the wild Cornish coast is admirably presented. It is inevitable that some final crash should shatter the obtuseness of Jim and the endurance of Min-Choo.

"Cupid," an unemployed ex-Service man, masquerading as a companion to a young lady in a remote Highland castle, is the strange Delilah of this tale. His perfection in the art of impersonation has been obtained as an amateur actor in France, and his northern adventure is undertaken to help his chum, Jim, in getting even with the wealthy scoundrel who owns the castle. Sir Simon is an unpleasant fellow, and we are glad that Violet turns out to be Jim's, not his, daughter. Inevitably, in the end, "Cupid" marries Violet, but the love-issue plays a very slight part. The interest is excellently maintained throughout, as the castle is full of mysterious comings and goings, which "Cupid" fathoms at the imminent and dangerous risk of discovery.

Mr. Newte has produced his latest novel in farcical mood. The respectable, middle-class Bailey family, Lady Mallandain, a wordly dame, who rouses Mrs. Bailey's scandalised ire, Sir Daniel Muntz, a Liberal candidate—and elderly wealthy suitor for Althea Bailey's unwilling hand—are among the puppets who play out an electioneering comedy. Mr. Bailey, narrow and fussy, is a somewhat pathetic character in his love for his daughter Althea, and a quarrel between the two lends a serious touch to the picture. There is a young man, Victor, who hangs about as Althea's favoured swain and figures in the happy ending.

"The Triumph." By Horace Newte. Mills and Boon. 8/6 net.

Mr. H. C. Bailey's tale is a romance of the twelfth century in England. Bran the Fool was one who had the ear of kings and nobles, whose jester's motley covered a shrewd head and a faithful, loving heart. It was not easy to picture such a man—playing the fool's part, yet the counsellor and friend of great men—but Mr. Bailey has succeeded to admiration. "The Fool" makes a fine tale, embodying much of the history of a tumultuous period when England was in the making; but it is Bran himself, so wise and witty in speech, who lingers in the reader's memory.

PETROL CARGO CASE.

MORE EVIDENCE FOR THE PROSECUTION.

The £30,000 case, in which the defendant is John White, of Thurston road, Liverpool, was again before Mr. Lupton in the Northern Police Court, Dublin, yesterday. After the evidence of one witness had been taken, the Court adjourned until this morning.

The defendant is charged with having converted to his own use three bills of exchange for £10,000 each which had been given to him in connection with the purchase of a cargo of petrol, the price of which was stated to be £187,425.

Mr. Dudley White, K.C. (instructed by Mr. Davis), appeared to prosecute; Mr. Edward H. Burne, solicitor, defended the prisoner, and Mr. Gleeson (instructed by Mr. James Brady) held a watching brief for witnesses.

Mr. William Ernest Fitzsimons, examined by Mr. White, said that he carried on motor business at 9 Nassau street, Dublin. He knew the accused for some years. In May last he introduced him as a petrol expert to four gentlemen whose names had been mentioned in the case. White told him that he had a cargo of petrol and could secure storage for it in Manchester. He said that he could dispose of large quantities, and calculated on being able to dispose of the cargo at a clear profit of £30,000. Having stated that a group was formed for the purpose of purchasing the cargo, the witness went on to say that forms of bills were drawn up. He telegraphed on 9th August to White to come to Dublin immediately, but he did not come. He received a letter from White stating that he was calling a meeting of the group, when he would give full particulars, and that everything was now complete, "even the cargo is now on its way." A meeting was called on the 12th August at Mr. McAndrew's office, but it was not attended by White.

ATTEMPT TO RECOVER THE BILLS.

Had White any authority from you for stating that he was to get three bills representing £30,000 in lieu of his profits? No. I met White in Liverpool and asked him for the bills, and he said that two were in his bag in Lloyd's, of Liverpool, and he promised to send back the bills and power of attorney on the following Wednesday night.

Were they sent back? No. I paid another visit to Liverpool at a later date and asked Mr. White to give up the bills. White said that "he could not discuss business with him in any way, and that he was placing the whole matter in the hands of his solicitor." The witness said that he told him that if he did not hand over the bills the group would get a warrant for his arrest. White said that Mr. Stephenson, the solicitor, had gone away for the week-end, and that he would consult him on his return. One of the bills White said was with Mr. James, of London. The witness said to White that if he came with him to Lloyd's Bank on Tuesday the manager would part with the bills, and added that he was going to Southport to see Mr. Rawson to get up that bill. He told White that if he could not get up these three bills "the fat will be in the fire." He did not get the bill from Rawson. He saw one of the bills in possession of Mr. Stephenson, the solicitor. It was filled up, but he did not explain to him that White had no right to raise money on any of the bills. White had no right to lodge the bills to his own personal account.

ELLESMERE PORT SITE.

Cross-examined by Mr. Burne—Did you believe that White was a straight, honest man and a good man of business? Yes, I believed that he was. I was told by Mr. Stephenson the defence that White had when I made the charge of taking these bills.

Did Mr. Stephenson tell you on 29th July that nineteen bills had been handed by Mr. White to Lind? Certainly—yes. Mr. Stephenson went into the transaction under which White got over the old bills, and he showed me the correspondence that White had with the Manchester Ship Canal Company as to the getting of the option of a site for storage at Ellesmere Port, near Manchester.

Have you any doubt that Lind gave £30,000 to White to get this option? I was told that he had given him a cheque for £30,000 to get the option, and I was shown the cheque. I was told that the cheque was given to purchase land at Ellesmere Port to erect storage thereon. Our group had no interest in that option.

Did Mr. Stephenson tell you that the cheque which Mr. White stated was undated was not capable of being cashed? He did. He also told me that White went to Lind and that Lind gave him three bills instead of the cheque for £30,000.

You clearly understand that the three bills which were given to White in place of that cheque were the bills which are the subject of this prosecution? Yes; they are the same bills. It was first communicated to White that he had ceased to be a member of the group.

Mr. Lupton, referring to the minutes, said that White was actually bundled out of the group and Lind taken in his place.

The cross-examination of the witness had not concluded when the Court adjourned till this morning.

SOVIET SENTENCES.

The officials of the Esthonian Consulate at Simferopol in the Crimea who were arrested on a charge of being connected with General Wrangel's revolt have been sent to an internment camp for two years. The Soviet is, however ready to exchange Consular officials for certain Communists. The Esthonian Consul, arrested some time ago, has died in Moscow.

WAR MEMORIAL COLLAPSES.

A monument erected to the memory of the inhabitants of Le Theux, near Charleville, who were killed in the war, was unveiled on Sunday. It was not, however, quite finished, and masons were still at work on it on Tuesday. Without warning, the structure suddenly gave way, and the heavy stone monument crashed down, killing two men and seriously injuring a third mason, an Italian.

COMING GREAT TRIUMPH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Thursday.

Mr. Frank Dominguez explains his withdrawal as chief counsel to Roscoe Arbuckle by saying that he cannot spend the necessary time in San Francisco on Arbuckle's defence. Speaking to Arbuckle, Mr. Dominguez said:—"I know you are innocent of the charges brought against you, and I am convinced that a jury will acquit you. I am convinced from my knowledge of you and the evidence that a great triumph awaits you."—(Reuter).

SUCCESSFUL WIND-UP.

BALLYNAGARDE'S SMART WIN.

The attendance at Greenpark for the second afternoon's racing was even larger than on Wednesday, and though heavy rain fell overnight it was again fine and mild during racing hours. The rain had its effect on the course, but not to any extent, the going being in good order, and the sport was carried through very successfully.

Red Michael made a bold effort to carry his big impost of 12st. to victory in the opening hurdle race, but, having the worst of the positions, at the first bend before entering the straight Jaeden gained a couple of lengths on him, which, as matters turned out, meant the difference between winning and losing. Aylin, having got the advantage, kept Jaeden going, and, though Red Michael challenged again in the straight, he was unable to make up the lost ground, Jaeden winning cleverly. Four horses were in equal demand for the Greenpark Plate, which Polish Prince won in ready style. Mrs. Moloney's horse was the last of the lot a mile from home, but passing the others one by one on the far side of the course he had drawn to the front before the bend, and never afterwards was seriously troubled.

Ballynagarde missed his engagement in the Garryowen Plate on Wednesday, and was saddled instead for the Limerick Steeplechase. Fly Boy II., who was considered his most dangerous opponent, made a bad mistake at the second last fence, which put him out of the reckoning, and Ballynagarde, holding Village Gossip safe, scored a popular win in Mr. Peter FitzGerald's colours. Saxona proved the best of a moderate lot in the City Plate, subsequent to winning which she was sold to Mr. R. J. Duggan for 100 sovs. The concluding events were very tame, and after Podarces had beaten three others in the Thomond Plate, Windfield, the only one of three runners to complete the course, won the Munster Steeplechase. Details:—

BATH MEETING.

KNIGHT TEMPLAR'S HEAD WIN.

CLOSE FINISH IN COUNTY WELTER.

If the Autumn Meeting at Bath is to become a permanent success, the programme will have to be considerably strengthened. The executive was doubtless not responsible for yesterday's weak sport, for the entries were satisfactory enough, those of the Maiden Two-Year-Old Plate, for instance, running to 68 and occupying three pages of the race card; but training difficulties such as are not likely to recur at this time of year prevented horses fulfilling their engagements. The heat was again phenomenal, and, from the weather point of view, the fixture has been most fortunate.

Though the principal race, the Somerset Handicap for three-year-olds, only attracted a field of six, it was the most interesting finish of the two days. The two joint favourites were first and second, being only divided by a head, with the next best fancied animal, Lionceau, only a neck further behind. H. Wheatley rode a particularly strong finish, more so than he had generally been considered capable of, in keeping Knight Templar going; but Donoghue subsequently explained to me that but for Red Ronald pecking after not having the clearest of courses he would have been first instead of second. The form, however, may not amount to much, for they were a very moderate lot of second season horses.

La Voile made light of her task in the Blathwayt Nursery, for Crickmere, who rode her, was in front the whole of the way. She had run well, if unsuccessfully, at Norwich, so her victory was not a surprise in certain quarters. Manton had expected to score with Erinite, but when he challenged La Voile had so much in hand as to shoot out again.

A most exciting finish was put up by Swynmyth and Jollity in the County Welter, it being as nearly as possible a dead heat. On the stands it was the general opinion Jollity had won, but the Swynford horse finished just a trifle the stronger.

On looks alone Vine Leaf took the eye in the paddock as the prospective winner of the maiden plate for two-year-olds. She hails from a stable that is usually good to follow here, and was an exceedingly clever winner. Churchwarden, who finished third, looks more like developing into a useful jumper than anything else.

The ex-jockey, Fred. Templeman, who is meeting with fair success as a trainer, had the satisfaction of seeing his own colours carried to victory by Queen's Bounty in the Channel Nursery. It was a decidedly smart display, and the winner may score again, whilst Headstrong did not by any means run up to his form.

At Kempton Park to-day Donoghue rides Goldscope, Glorioso, Abanazar, Lord of Burghley, and Little Doon; Speck, Pretty Dick. Piper, who rides at Wolverhampton on both days next week, and Lane have no Kempton mounts at present.

SEWELL'S ANNUAL BALLINASLOE SALE.

Messrs. Sewell, Son and Simpson held their annual sale in conjunction with Ballinasloe Fair yesterday. The sale was well attended, and although the demand for likely hunters was not up to pre-war standard, horses that had been hunted were sought after, and sold well, and if the numbers had been more numerous they would have found purchasers.

LONDON BETTING—YESTERDAY.

Tishy wound up a good favourite for the Cesarewitch, with Harrier easy at eights. Devizes hardened to nines, but more money came for Front Line and Yutoi, both of whom closed at tens. Money Glass went well at 100 to 7, and Chat Tor, at eighteens, travelled best of the others. For the Cambridgeshire, Earna and Soranus were joint favourites at 100 to 8, while Lacrosse had a friend at 25's. Quotations:—

HAYDOCK PARK.

TERESSKEN WINS AUTUMN HANDICAP.

THRILLING FINISHES.

In delightful weather this meeting came to a close yesterday. In the Maiden Handicap, with sixteen runners, Stockwood's saddle broke on the way to the post, and Thwaites had to walk his mount back to the weighing-room to get the saddle put right. To the onlookers it appeared that Stockwood had broken down, and he drifted out in the market, but Stockwood won easily from Milo. Another surprise was forthcoming in the White Lodge Selling Nursery, when the favourite, Stephie colt, failed to get placed, and Sweet Eloquence won by a short head from Winterton, thus atoning for her unlucky defeat at Catterick. The most popular win of the afternoon was that of Lord Durham's Teresken in the Autumn Handicap. The colt was always a warm favourite, and won in hollow style from Walton's Choice and Tric Trac. The Shark proved a disappointing favourite in the Thursday Selling Handicap, and the Penrith representative, Flying Corps, won easily, to find a new owner in Mr. Joseph Widger at 330 guineas. Sir George Renwick's colours were to the fore in the Garswood Nursery with the aid of Willow Pattern, who was practically despised in the wagering, but got home after a desperate set-to with Monte Fortino and Westmead. Another thrilling finish saw the Malton-trained Black Miner bowl over the odds-on Stavropol in the concluding event. Details:—

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

Spion Kop has left Newmarket for Chevington.

Bumble Bee was struck out of the Cesarewitch at 9 a.m., Flint Jack at 10.56, and Rockdew at 11.57 a.m. yesterday.

Mrs. Harty has sold the promising 'chaser, Old Mick, by Walmsgate, out of Orpuir, to an English owner, and he goes into Bazley's stable.

It is probable that Tut Tut, last year's winner, will again essay to win the Queen Elizabeth Handicap at Kempton Park to-day. Another Irish candidate for the honour is Miss Brian Boru.

Forest Guard, Daylight Saver, Doon Star, Canny Lady, Kelvin Boy, Robbery, and The Abbey have left Burns's stable at Ayr for McCall's place at Dunbar.

Frank Bullock's successes on Sally Lunn and Weal or Woe at Haydock Park on Wednesday took his winning rides for the season into three figures. Donoghue is the only other jockey who so far has ridden 100 winners.

Mr. Robert Percy O'Connor La Touche, of Harristown, Co. Kildare, Senior Steward of the Irish Turf Club, and lately Steward of the Irish N.H. Committee, a director of the Baldoyle Racecourse Company, and honorary member of the Jockey Club, who died on March 13 last, aged 74, left personal estate in the United Kingdom valued at £2,828.

BOYS' BRIGADE SWIMMING GALA.

Last night, at Iveagh Baths, the annual gala of the Dublin Battalion Boys' Brigade attracted a big crowd. Sport was brisk throughout, and the features were the polo matches. Blackrock luckily defeated Belvedere (holders) in the final of the Leinster Schools' League, which had lapsed for several years, while in the other match Mr. O. Armstrong's team beat the B.B. Past, captained by Dr. Beckett, the Irish internationalist, by 4-2, A. J. Cullen, the official handicapper of the Leinster Branch, accomplishing the "hat trick." The championship of the Battalion was won by H. F. Case, son of the popular R.I.C. instructor. He is the youngest boy that ever won the event. The Hon. Secretary, R. Love, and the various officials worked very hard for the success of the gala. Mrs. Shannon, wife of Captain Shannon (1st Co.) distributed the prizes. Details:—

Beginners (Breast Stroke).—Final—H. Blakely (15th Co.), 3 secs., 1; A. Buchanan (21st), scr., 2; W. Walters (14th) 6 secs., 3.

100 Yards Championship of the Battalion.—Pte. H. Case (8th Co.), 1; Sgt. R. N. Dagg (14th), 2; Sgt. S. H. Armstrong (21st), 3. Won easily. Time, 83 1-5 secs.

Officers' Race (three lengths).—Lieut. W. S. Corrigan (14th), scr., 1; Lieut. A. W. Kelly (12th), 10 secs., 2; Lieut. A. C. Sibthorpe (1st), 10 secs., 3. Four competed.

Juniors (two lengths).—Final—F. Devitt (7th), 1; H. Armstrong (21st), 2; J. Hanna (5th), 3.

88 Yards (Open).—First heat—C. Kenna (14th), 1; Orr, 2. Second heat—O. Armstrong, 1; J. H. Wallace, 2. Final—Kenna, 1; Armstrong, 2; Wallace, 3. Won by 3 yards; 1½ yards.

Senior Handicap (three lengths).—Final—L.-Cpl. Darker (7th), 10 secs., 1; Sgt. N. Dagg (14th), 2 secs., 2; Cpl. A. Blyth (14th), 3 secs., 3. Won easily.

Water Polo.—Leinster Schools' League Championship—Blackrock College (Brophy 2, O'Connor 1), 3; Belvedere College (Hogan), 2. Mr. O. Armstrong's Team (Cullen 3, H. F. Case, sen.), 4; B.B. Past (Dr. J. Beckett and J. C. Wallace), 2.

Battalion Squadron Championship.—21st Co. (Hurso, H. Armstrong, W. Jewell, and S. Armstron), 1; 14th Co., 2; 8th Co., 3. Won easily.

Diving.—H. Skelton (14th), 1; G. Blakeley (15th), 2; Pte. R. Craig (21st Co.), 3.

Past Members and Staff Sergeants.—R. V. Poots (21st), 7 secs., 1; W. D. Emery (3rd), 10 secs., 2; J. C. Wallace (17th), 2 secs., 3. Six competed. Won by two yards; one yard.

ST. ANDREW'S COLLEGE GALA.

This gala, which takes place at the Iveagh Baths this evening at 7 o'clock, will bring the Dublin swimming season to a close. Judging by the number of entries received for the open races, as well as the club events, the meeting promises to be a success. Pembroke S.C., the winners of the Leinster Section of the Irish Water Polo Cup, will oppose a team representing the Rest of Leinster.

INMAN IN FORM.

Inman had the better of the afternoon's session at Bristol yesterday, but the heat affected the play of both men. Inman made 154 and 145, while M'Conachy's best were 95 and 93. Interval scores:—McConachy (in play), 4,823; Inman, 4,569.

Some brilliant play was seen at the evening session, both players producing fine form. Inman made two fine breaks of 199 and 158, whilst McConachy scored a brilliant 237, 96 (full, off the red), and 80. The big attendance was delighted with the display. Inman went to his points with an unfinished break of 70. Closing scores:—McConachy, 5,435; Inman (in play), 5,250.

POOR SCORING BY NEWMAN.

Newman, who has failed to produce anything like his true form in the exhibition match of 16,000 up at Leicester square, London, again fared badly yesterday afternoon. He scored but 100 against Falkiner's 666, the latter's breaks being 303, from 115 (unfinished), 85, 167, 97, and 71 (unfinished). Interval scores:—Falkiner (in play), 4,665; Newman, 2,191.

THE LOUTH HOUNDS will cub-hunt:—Wednesday, Oct. 12th, Corbollis; Saturday, 15th, Rokeby; Tuesday, 18th, Clermont. At 9 o'clock.

KEMPTON PARK.

SELECTIONS FOR TO-DAY.

With nothing to clash with it, the meeting at Kempton Park to-day and to-morrow should be a very successful affair. The programme is a good one, and on the opening afternoon the Queen Elizabeth Handicap and the Imperial Produce Plate are the two chief items. For the former several horses are already on the spot, but I understand Orby's Pride may not run. Chi Lo Sa and Fiddle De Dee have both been sent from Newmarket, and although the former ran well against Black Gown last week, I shall plump for

FIDDLE DE DEE.

The overnight arrival list will be extended this morning. My other selections are as under:—

October Plate—Chevington.
Half Moon Plate—Doagh colt.
Produce Plate—Pomology.
County Handicap—Dynamo.
Thames Plate—Roman Ruler.

£750 GOLF TOURNAMENT.

DEFEAT OF RAY.

GAUDIN AND SEYMOUR IN FINAL.

The fourth and semi-final rounds of the £750 Golf Tournament were played at Oxhey yesterday, and as the result Gaudin, the Leeds professional, and Seymour, a Londoner, will meet in the final over 36 holes to-day. Gaudin, who beat a fellow-Jersey Islander in the semi-final, has long been a prominent professional in the North of England, and Seymour is one of the most promising of the younger professionals, as well as being one of the longest drivers in the professional ranks.

In the fourth round the match in which Ray beat Leaver, the Lancashire man actually took the lead at the second, but Ray got level at the fifth. At the next Ray took the lead, and then became 2 up at the seventh, where Leaver was weak with his iron. The ninth served to make Ray 3 up, and, winning the fourteenth, he became dormy 4, and the match finished on the next green.

Gaudin was 1 up on Whitcombe at the fifth, and, after being 2 up, he was the leader by one hole at the ninth. They were twice square afterwards, but at the sixteenth Gaudin resumed the lead, and Whitcombe, finding trouble at the seventeenth, lost this hole and the match. After being 2 up on Ockenden at the seventh, Wingate turned with a 3 holes advantage. The Northerner became 4 up at the tenth, but, after Wingate had been dormy, he ended the match on the penultimate green. Seymour, who beat Day, displayed over-confidence towards the finish. They were square at the sixth, and subsequently Seymour was dormy 3. He played badly to the sixteenth, but, getting a half at the next, entered the semi-final.

THE SEMI-FINALS.

The semi-final match in which Gaudin defeated Ray had a sensational commencement, as by the time the sixth hole was played Gaudin was 3 up. The big Oxhey man began by pulling his drive out of bounds, and Gaudin thus took the lead with great confidence. He ran down a long putt at the third, to increase his advantage. Though Ray won the fourth, he lost the next through being too daring in negotiating the trees. Gaudin increased his lead at the short sixth, and the seventh was the beginning of the end, Gaudin's accuracy on the greens building the foundation for his subsequent right of entry to the final. The following hole went to Gaudin, and, as the ninth was halved, the home professional was 5 down at the turn. Gaudin sank a putt of nearly seven yards at the tenth, and he left Ray a half stymie at the eleventh, which the latter negotiated to reduce the odds against him to 5 holes. Again Gaudin out-drove Ray to the twelfth, a half in 4 being the outcome. Ray holed a ten-yarder on the thirteenth to win that hole, and he also captured the fourteenth, where Gaudin sliced his drive into the boundary fence, and had to stand out of bounds to play his shot. A half at the fifteenth left Gaudin dormy, and, the sixteenth being halved, the match ended in favour of Gaudin by 3 and 2.

In the other semi-final, in which Seymour beat Wingate, the former took the lead at the first hole. Wingate won the third, and the match was square at the fourth. Wingate's tee shot at the short sixth was buried in the sand, and Seymour again led. The latter played excellently to the seventh, and became 2 up, and at the last hole outward Seymour increased his advantage to 3, this being the outcome of superior length. Eventually Seymour was dormy 3, and he brought the match to an end on the next green. Results:—

FOURTH ROUND.

Ray (Oxhey) beat Leaver (Worsley)—4 and 3.
Gaudin (Alwoodley) beat Whitcombe (Dorchester)—2 and 1.
Wingate (Wearside) beat Ockenden (Raynes Park)—2 and 1.
Seymour (Molesey Hurst) beat Day (Ganton)—2 and 1.

SEMI-FINAL.

Gaudin beat Ray—3 and 2.
Seymour beat Wingate—3 and 2.

LADIES' CLOSE CHAMPIONSHIP.

MISS WETHERED AND MRS. MUDFORD TO CONTEST THE FINAL.

As the result of yesterday's play over the Lytham and St. Anne's course, the finalists for the English Ladies' Close Championship were arrived at, and Miss Joyce Wethered, the defender of the title, reaches the last stage. She will be opposed to-day by Mrs. Mudford, who was only reserve in the Yorkshire County team, and is a member of the Hallamshire Club. Thus, for the first time, the final will be fought out between a Northern and a Southern player.

Miss Wethered won her match against Miss Bastin with comparative ease by 5 and 4. Miss Bastin took the lead at the second, and should have early on got a good start, but she threw chances away. It was not until the fifth hole was reached that Miss Wethered really showed her superiority, but from that point she played brilliantly, and made very few weak strokes. She was 4 up at the turn, and was out in an approximate 37, or one better than the bogey allowance. At the tenth she increased her advantage where Miss Bastin sliced out of bounds, and though she played the next indifferently, she managed to halve in 6. She, however, was dormy at the 13th, and with a half at the next, took the match.

The other semi-final between Mrs. Mudford and Miss Gourlay was one in which neither displayed their best form. Mrs. Mudford lost the first and second, picking up at the former after being bunkered. Then followed an epidemic of missed putts, in which both were associated. The Yorkshire lady squared the match at the fifth. Then there was some indifferent golf to the turn, at which stage Miss Gourlay held an advantage of one hole. Then they won holes in turn, but it was not until the sixteenth that Mrs. Mudford took the lead for the first time. She, however, missed a foot putt at the seventeenth for a half, and all was square going to the home hole, when Miss Gourlay was trapped in a bunker, and taking two to recover, lost the hole and the match.

In the fourth round Miss Wragg, the Yorkshire Champion, had a great struggle with Miss Gourlay, of Camberley Heath. The Yorkshire lady was always struggling, and was a little behind her opponent in the long game. Miss Wragg, however, faced the situation pluckily, and was all square at the ninth. At the thirteenth the match was level, but wins at the fourteenth and sixteenth left the Surrey player dormy. Miss Wragg, after a perfect approach, was sitting for a win at the seventeenth, but had the misfortune to be stymied, and could do no better than halve the hole. Mrs. Mudford, then the only Northerner left in, brought off a fine win against the internationalist, Miss Helme, gaining the margin by 3 and 1. Miss Wethered had an easy journey against Mrs. Deane. She played brilliantly, and was sixth up at the eighth. Mrs. Deane had what proved to be her only success at the ninth, and reduced the lead. Miss Wethered, however, was out in 38, which equalled bogey. The defender of the title halved the next three, but won the thirteenth, where the match finished. Miss Bastin had to meet Miss Hartill, the hard-hitting Midlander, and won by the substantial margin of 5 and 4. Results:—

FIFTH ROUND.

Miss M. Gourlay (Camberley Heath) beat Miss M. Wragg (Wortley)—2 and 1; Mrs. Mudford (Hallamshire) beat Miss E. Helme (Leatherhead)—3 and 1; Miss Joyce Wethered (Worplesdon) beat Mrs. R. H. Deane (Hanger Hill)—6 and 5; Miss G. Bastin (Crowborough) beat Miss Hartill (Copt Heath)—5 and 4.

SEMI-FINALS.

Mrs. Mudford beat Miss Gourlay 1 up.
Miss Wethered beat Miss Bastin—5 and 4.

UNITED STATES LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP.

MISS C. LEITCH'S CONQUEROR BEATEN.

At Deal, New Jersey, yesterday, in the Third Round of the American Ladies' Championship, Miss Alexa Stirling (Atlanta), the holder, beat Mrs. Latham Hall (England), who, as Miss Chubb, was runner-up, in the British Ladies' Championship in 1913, by one hole. Miss Elaine Rosenthal (Connecticut) beat Miss Edith Leitch (England) at the nineteenth hole, and Miss Marion Hollins (Long Island) defeated Mrs. Letts (Illinois), Wednesday's conqueror of Miss Cecil Leitch, by 4 and 3.

AMATEURS BEAT PROFESSIONALS

Harry Vardon and the local professional, Hobley, conceding two strokes to G. N. P. Humphreys, the Cambridge University captain, and J. Baker, the former Gloucester champion, at Gloucester yesterday, lost by 4 and 3 in a fourball match. In the afternoon Vardon beat Hobley by 4 and 3.

A BRIEF SITTING.

The first sitting of the High Court of Northern Ireland was held yesterday in the Record Court of the County Courthouse in Belfast. Mr. Justice Moore acted as Vacation Judge. There was a good attendance of representatives of the Bar, both Senior and Junior, to witness the event.

No applications or motions were brought forward, and His Lordship rose after a sitting which lasted less than two minutes.

COURSING.

KILMOGANNY MEETING.

A GOOD DAY'S SPORT.

KILKENNY, Thursday.

Under delightful weather conditions the Irish coursing season was opened to-day at the out of the way, but popular, Kilmoganny venue, whither thousands of Kilkenny and Tipperary sportsmen made the journey by motor. At one time in the forenoon it looked as if we were in for a wet day, but before noon the rain-laden clouds passed away, and the sport was proceeded with without the least hindrance from the weather. Four sixteens made up the card, and for an opening meeting, and with the conditions altogether at variance with those usually associated with the leash, the coursing was well up to the Kilmoganny standard. The puppies were a very fair class, on the whole; but, of course, many ran very green, and will do much better later on. About the best of them was Mr. Harte's Hidden Joke, who won the Rossenarra (No. 1) Stake, and for a youngster who not long ago was suffering from a broken leg, he ran an exceedingly fast and useful puppy indeed. The runner-up, Rose Red, showed smart form also, and perhaps if they met later on he would reverse to-day's verdict. Those in the Rossenarra (No. 2) Stake were not such a level lot as the others, and Graded Gold was about the fastest of the sixteen, including Fly Again, who divided the spoils. The form in the Blackbog Stake did not work out quite accurately on last season's running, and there were upsets, but Darriole simply romped away with the stake, displaying excellent pace, but, for open coursing, Frisco Kid, who was led and beaten pointless in the decider, would be preferred to the speed merchant, who does not handle his hare as artistically as the second. Garmonican cut up in disappointing fashion, and age told against Dear Sir, while Quality Tells has not improved. It was a fine meeting, admirably managed. Details:—

ROSSENARRA STAKE (No. 1)—For 16 puppies. Winner, £20 and Cup; second, £8; third and fourth, £2 each.

Mr. Walsh's Watchman VII. beat Mr. Gorey's Guiding Line; Mr. Gorey's Good Judge beat Mr. Meehan's Billy Boy III.; Mr. G. LIVE STOCK PRICES.

FURTHER FALL IN DUBLIN.

Prices for cattle and sheep were again lower in the Dublin Market yesterday, and, except for the finest quality animals, trade was slow. There was only a small shipping demand for cattle and sheep.

Farmers are now said to be selling their cattle, sheep, and pigs at prices which are little more than half of those that they received a year ago. The Dublin Cattle Market affords a reliable indication of the trend of prices of Irish live stock. A week ago a great fall in prices in that market was recorded, and at yesterday's market the tone was again dull and depressed. The number of cattle on sale was 4,706, or 240 less than last week. Of sheep and lambs there were 8,152. More than half of these animals found no buyers. Lambs were sold as low as 20s. each, and for good quality lambs butchers paid up to 50s. and 55s.

As with sheep, so with cattle; little more than half the number present were sold. There were many buyers from across the Channel, but they were not keen on acquiring animals at the prices which were demanded by the owners. The lowest prices of last week were something like the top prices of yesterday. In a general way it may be said that cattle were sold at £1 to £2 per head under last week's rates. Only the finest quality of beef reached the prices which ruled last week, and shippers' best terms for choice bullocks were 55s. per cwt. Prime heifers and oxen were sold at the rate of 54s. to 57s. 6d. per cwt. Only in a few cases was 60s. reached. Some poor specimens of cattle were sold even at 47s. 6d. per cwt.

In the section for sheep a similar condition of things prevailed. The buying was almost altogether left to butchers. Ordinary qualities were sold at the rate of from 8d. to 9½d. per lb., and the better sorts from 10d. to 11½d. per lb.

Pigs ranged from £4 to £5 5s. per cwt., and, taking them on the average, prices were 20s. to 30s. per head below those of the previous week. The state of the market generally would justify householders in looking for lower prices in the retail shops.

TOO DEAR TO MOTOR.

HOW COST OF LIVING HAS RISEN IN JAPAN.

Motoring in Japan has become so expensive owing to soaring prices that only the wealthy own cars.

Import duty (cables The Times Correspondent in the Far East) is 35 per cent., and a Ford to buy costs yen 2,175, practically the equivalent to £300. The municipal tax for running the same in Tokyo is yen 600 per annum, while his majesty the chauffeur gets yen 90 per month for tearing the inside out of the machine and enjoying the privilege of purloining the petrol. In Tokyo there are about 3,000 cars, many of which are now "resting" owing to the cost of maintenance.

Food of all kinds is up three times, and is still rising. A run to Yokohama on the train used to be, first-class return, 90 sen, but a single "second" is now over a yen. Foreign hotels claim that their prices are only doubled, but in practice the increase is far greater, because cuisine is much restricted, and service insufficient and perfunctory, where it used to be excellent. In Japanese inns the prices have quadrupled and quintupled, and, generally speaking, it may be said that costs have risen more for the Japanese than for foreigners resident or travelling.

Rents in Tokyo for miserable accommodation are a revelation. Our little house of three rooms, without garden, slightly modified to suit foreign tenants, is yen 150 per month, equivalent to £230 per annum. The same could be had in Tokyo six years ago for yen 30, and less.

Everything in the nature of wearing apparel is still about three times what it was before the war. Silk goods are as high as ever, although the export price of the raw article has declined by two-thirds. Labour of all kinds is three, four, and five times what it was. The coolie who for 10 sen (2½d.) used to take a letter and bring a reply now demands 50 sen (1s.) for his services. Riksha men are insatiable, and in practice it is found cheaper to hire a motor car in which to make a round of visits than to waste a whole day being snailed around in one of these irritating conveyances.

FRACAS AMONG ARABS.

A street battle between about one hundred Arabs took place at Newport (Mon) on Monday morning, in the course of which revolvers, knives, daggers, and sticks were freely brandished. No serious injury was inflicted, and the police, who promptly rushed to the scene, quelled the disturbance and made some arrests.

The trouble arose through the unemployment question. Arabs from Cardiff came to the port to endeavour to secure work, and the men of the same nationality in Newport objected.

The Managing Committee earnestly appeal to the citizens to aid them in keeping the Hospital abreast of the times. Notwithstanding the high cost of building, a new Operating Theatre has had to be provided recently. At present an Electric Elevator is being installed to replace the worn-out hydraulic lift which had been working since the Hospital was rebuilt about 35 years ago. The sanitary arrangements, which are antiquated and very imperfect, have been condemned, and must be renewed immediately. The cost of these necessary works is close on £10,000, and bearing in mind the high prices for provisions, drugs, etc., still prevailing, the financial outlook is far from reassuring, and is a cause of grave anxiety. The Managing Committee are now about to instal an Electro-Cardiograph Apparatus, so that everything that science can provide for their relief and successful treatment may be available for the sick poor of the city. Donations will be received at the Hospital by the Sisters of Mercy, or by any member of the Committee of Management, or of the Medical Staff.

Mr. William Brennan has been appointed by the Committee to solicit and receive Donations and Subscriptions in aid of the Funds of the Institution.

NEWS SUMMARY.

There was a further fall in live stock prices at the Dublin Cattle Market yesterday.—(P. 3.)

Reports from country districts show that farmers are obtaining prices which are very little above the pre-war level for meat and dairy produce, but retail prices remain high.—(P. 2.)

The case in which a Liverpool man is charged with converting three bills representing £30,000 to his own use was again before Mr. Lupton in the Dublin Police Courts yesterday, and adjourned until this morning.—(P. 2.)

The occupants of a motor car fired at Auxiliary policemen in Dunmanway on Wednesday night and then escaped.—(P. 5.)

A milkman named Aherne was shot dead near Cork on Wednesday night by a man to whom he refused to give his money.—(P. 5.)

On Wednesday night Mr. Travers Wolff, a well-known solicitor, was kidnapped at Skibbereen, and a County Councillor was abducted in Ennis yesterday.—(P. 5.)

Unknown men entered houses in Thurles on Wednesday night and seriously assaulted some of the occupants with sticks.—(P. 5.)

The charges for electricity are being raised in Belfast, and the Corporation is to be asked to add six business men to the Electricity Committee.—(P. 6.)

A full meeting of the Cabinet was held at Downing street yesterday, when the subjects under consideration were Ireland and unemployment.—(P. 5.)

A fire caused by a burst oil pipe in the boiler room occurred on the training ship Fisguard, stationed at Portsmouth.—(P. 6.)

A ballot will be taken by the engineering trade to-day on the acceptance or rejection of the cut in the war bonus.—(P. 5.)

Two girls at the annual examination at the Charing Cross Hospital Medical School, London, won twelve out of seventeen prizes.—(P. 4.)

The perils of a voyage into Siberia were told by a Norwegian captain on his return yesterday.—(P. 5.)

A motor and train ferry service between Paris and London will be initiated on Monday.—(P. 4.)

Another railway accident has occurred in France, two persons being killed and three seriously injured in a collision in Agen Railway Station.—(P. 5.)

When the new desert airway between Cairo and Bagdad was established motor cars marked out the route for the airmen.—(P. 5.)

In London the Stock Markets were flat and depressed, except gilt-edged securities. The Bank rate was unchanged. Money was in abundant supply down to 3 per cent. Gold and silver showed a further relapse in price. Dublin Market was stagnant and dull in tone.—(P. 7.)

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference—Slight secondaries will cause some showers in the western and northern parts of the Kingdom, but Eastern England will probably continue under the influence of the Continental anti-cyclone, and have fine weather, with temperature much above the normal.

Ireland, N.W. and N.E.—Light to moderate south-westerly breezes; fair to dull, some showers; visibility mainly good, but some morning mist; rather warm.

Ireland, S.E. and S.W.—Light south-westerly breezes; fair; visibility good, apart from morning mist; rather high temperature.

Dixon and Hempenstall, Barometers, 12 Suffolk street, Dublin.—(Advt.)

Washington and Japan.

Europe is beginning to apply its mind in earnest to the Washington Conference. The personnel of the several delegations has not yet been decided, but MM. Briand and Viviani almost certainly will cross the Atlantic to represent the interests of France. Mr. Lloyd George's intentions are still uncertain. One day inspired paragraphs announce that he has booked his passage; on the next they announce that he must remain at home. Now it is urged that the Irish Conference will demand his undivided attention, now that he must stay in London to settle the unemployment problem; and between one thing and another the world is being kept on tenterhooks. This irresolute attitude is likely to do great harm to British prestige in the United States. The Washington Conference is either of greater or of less importance than Mr. Lloyd George's domestic preoccupations. If it is of greater importance, he should make up his mind to go to America in spite of everything; if it is of less, he should decide to stay at home. The conversations at Washington, although technically they will be confined to disarmament and Far Eastern problems, are likely to be productive of very far-reaching results. On their success or failure, from the narrower standpoint, the future orientation of American politics will depend. If Britain, France, and Japan prove that they are as anxious as the United States to beat their swords into ploughshares and to turn their battleships into pleasure steamers, the American people may return to the Allied fold. If President Harding's plan should fail, their distrust of Europe will become more intense than ever.

What are the chances of success? Britain, undoubtedly, will support a general reduction of armaments, and the greater the reduction the more her people will like it. They are sick of war and all its works, and their greatest need is relief from the taxes which oppress them so heavily. France, like Britain, is longing to shake off the burdens of war, but, unlike Britain, she does not yet feel secure from German invasion; and for that reason her consent to any drastic measure of disarmament may be difficult to obtain. The real danger, however, is Japan. Nobody knows exactly what the Mikado's Government is likely to do. Mr. Hara, the Prime Minister, declares that he is determined to do everything in his power to promote the success of the Conference; but hitherto experience has taught the world that Japan's policy cannot be gauged by her public protestations. At present she is suffering from an embarras de richesses, and the military party is in no mood to sacrifice its dearest ambitions at the behest of America or of anybody else. According to a special correspondent of The Times, Japan's financial position is virtually without precedent in the world's history. It is the dearest country on earth; but, while Europe and America have suffered heavy losses through the war, Japan has become as rich as Crœsus. She has no debts of any kind, and her visible assets have increased since 1914 by 2,000,000,000 yen, or, at present exchange value, £260,000,000. Her gold holdings seven years ago amounted to some 341,000,000 yen. They amount to-day to 2,183,000,000 yen, nearly all of which is in the Government's hands. As the total note issue is almost 1,000,000,000 yen less than these gold holdings, Japan may be said to have money to burn, and her war party is determined that she shall burn it.

There is, of course, another side to the picture. Japan, like all other countries, has been hit severely by the general depression of trade. Food prices have risen on an average by 300 per cent., and a three-roomed house costs the equivalent of £230 a year. Nevertheless, while Japan's position is worse than it was in 1919, when her trade "boom" was at its height, it is infinitely better than it was in 1914. In this respect her condition is vastly different from that of the other countries. Seven years ago they were prosperous; now many of them are paupers. America is the only nation that can hold a candle to the little island Empire of the East, and even she has not escaped from the war unscathed. It is not very difficult, therefore, to understand why Japan is unlikely to embrace a scheme of disarmament with open arms. Her population is far too large for the size of her territory, and it is increasing every day. She must find colonies somewhere, and to that end she must maintain an adequate fighting force. Besides, in view of America's naval programme, which, disarmament or no disarmament, seems to be certain to be completed, the Japanese are inclined to doubt the purely altruistic nature of President Harding's motives. Be that as it may, a nation with Japan's gold reserve is in a very strong position, and any attempt to "bluff" it into surrender of its claims will be foredoomed to failure. Unless America makes some concessions in regard to the racial question Japan is almost certain to wreck the disarmament project; and, much as we may sympathise with the American point of view, we must admit, in fairness, that the demand for racial equality is not altogether unreasonable.

The Greek Crisis.

Although General Papoulas gives descriptions in his daily reports of engagements in which the Turkish losses were "severe" and the Greek losses were "very small," he cannot conceal the fact that his troops are losing ground. Mustapha Kemal's men have made an important advance in the direction of Pazardjik. Eskishehr, where the heaviest fighting of the whole campaign took place two months ago, soon may be in Turkish hands again, and at various points detachments of the weary Greek Army are in danger of being surrounded. The significance of these events in Asia Minor cannot be mitigated by reports of "successes," and Greece's enthusiasm for the war is disappearing rapidly. There is a consensus of opinion that Mustapha Kemal was pursued too far. The operations in the hilly country which guards Angora overtaxed the strength of the troops. Supplies could not be obtained promptly; the men became disheartened, and there was a heavy casualty list. So long as success attended their arms the Greeks never paused to consider how the war was being financed, but now they take a lively interest in the question. The Government is blamed for not having obtained a loan or satisfactory financial support from the Great Powers, and one newspaper asserts that it has led the country to economic disaster. At first the Prime Minister treated the critics with lofty contempt, but on Wednesday he became alarmed and decided to convene a special meeting of the Chamber for next week. A discussion on the conduct of the war will take place and a vote of confidence in the Government will be submitted. The Cabinet's defeat is well within the bounds of probability. M. Stratos, the leader of an important group in the Chamber, has declared that he cannot support M. Gounaris any longer, and his influence may decide the Cabinet's fate. The Prime Minister's uneasiness has led him to embark upon a campaign of conciliation and vote-catching. As a remedy for the dissatisfaction which exists in the Army he proposes to grant land in Macedonia and Thrace to every soldier who has fought at the front and to create a number of highly-paid posts for officers who will accept the task of administering the conquered territory in Asia Minor. The disappearance of M. Gounaris would be a good thing for Greece. He played a treacherous part in the Great War and tried hard to range his country on the side of the Central Powers. M. Venizelos's fall from power and King Constantine's return to the throne were due mainly to his efforts.

French Railway Accidents.

On Wednesday evening a horrible railway accident occurred in the Batignolles tunnel, near Paris. A train which left the Gare St. Lazare for Versailles at 5.48 was stopped in the tunnel by the breaking of a coupling. At 5.52 another train left the Gare, entered the tunnel at full speed, and crashed into the stationary carriages, which immediately caught fire as a result of the explosion of the gas reservoirs. Twenty-six bodies have been recovered from the wreck, and one hundred persons were injured more or less severely. A few months ago another serious loss of life took place in the same locality, and of late similar, if slighter, accidents have been reported with alarming frequency from many parts of France. Yesterday two trains collided in the station at Agen, near Toulouse, and two persons were killed. It is not surprising that the French people are getting anxious. When the Chamber assembles the Government will be interpellated not merely on the Batignolles accident, but on the general insecurity of railway travelling throughout the country. As British tourists know, the whole railway system in France is less strict and more casual than in these islands. Trains are discharged outside their stations; passengers invade the permanent way, and over-crowding in local trains is the rule rather than the exception. The carelessness of the travelling public, however, cannot account for collisions in tunnels and railway stations. It is possible that supervision and organisation have become slacker since the end of the war, and it is certain that much of the rolling stock on the State railways has deteriorated and clamours for renovation. State property always is more liable to this danger than the property of privately-owned concerns. We may hope that, after the Batignolles accident, the French Government will realise the necessity of immediate action.

The New Romance.

Mr. Kipling has written that East and West never can meet; but that was a long time ago. They are meeting now under the auspices of Western science, and the result is romance of a fresh and fascinating kind. There are half a dozen separate "thrills" in the account of the making of the Cairo-Bagdad airway which Air-Commodore Brooke-Popham gave yesterday to the Royal Aeronautical Society. Take the picture of the pioneers "blazing" their way through the desert with the aid of wireless telegraphy. They fixed their position by the immemorial stars which had shone on Alexander, Mahommed, and Napoleon; but, in the process, they checked their chronometers by the time signal—two thousand miles away—from the Eiffel Tower in Paris. Take, again, the story of the sheik whom our airmen found wounded among the lonely sands, and carried by aeroplane to hospital at Bagdad. A few days afterwards a British "flight," engaged on rescue work, was forced to spend the night at an oasis. Suddenly from the void came camels bearing warriors of the grateful sheik. They guarded the camp during the dark hours, and at dawn silently stole away. Here are imaginative "effects" of a new quality; yet it is not to fiction that we owe them, but to sober fact. Science—cold, material science—is bringing "the child's heart within the man" back to its long-lost communion with Crusader and gentleman adventurer.

TIMING A RACEHORSE.

THE OLD METHOD AND THE NEW.

The timing of horses for racing purposes can be traced back for quite a considerable period—long before stop-watches were even thought of. Years ago in America, when even ordinary watches were scarce, the times of trotting horses used to be obtained by means of a knife and a stick, a succession of fairly deep "V"-shaped nicks being cut in the latter, while the animal was covering a given distance. Each nick represented a second. The process worked out to a fair degree of accuracy, the operators becoming wonderfully proficient in gauging the necessary intervals to correspond with seconds of time. Fifths of seconds were, of course, not attempted.

The latest contrivance for taking the various times is British, however. It is called the paceograph, the invention of Mr. Victor McCalla. It consists of a metal drum, which makes one revolution every three minutes, the driving mechanism being clockwork. Around the drum a graph-paper is placed marked out in small squares, sub-divided into fifths. Each square represents a second of time. Surmounting the drum is a telescope, the movements of which synchronise with a needle-pointed pen, which traces on the paper any horizontal movement made by the telescope.

The machine not only records the minutes, seconds, and fifths of seconds occupied by any race or trial gallop, but also shows the times taken for any section. For instance, if a horse is pulled up in the middle of a gallop, stands still for a period, and then continues, the machine records how long it stands still, the time it takes to slow up, and the time that elapses before it gets into its stride again.

DOLL'S HOUSE VOGUE.

It is curious how a little thing can have a big effect. The Queen's dolls' house episode at the London Hospital Bazaar some months ago has brought about a bid demand for these bijou residences, and the coming Christmas season is to see a great revival in them for presents. Enormous orders for houses are being placed with the toy trade, with a consequent demand for toy furniture. This is work that can be well done by our own toy makers, and it is to be hoped that full opportunities will be given them.

MR. H. G. GOLIGHER, C.B.E.

Mr. H. G. Goligher, C.B.E., youngest son of the late Mr. John Goligher, J.P., Londonderry, has been promoted by the Army Council to the position of Assistant Secretary in the War Office.

During the war and the period of the armistice, Mr. Goligher served as Financial Adviser to the Commander-in-Chief in France, and held the rank of Brigadier-General. He has been a member of the British Delegation with the Reparation Commission in Paris, and, in view of the importance of the work there, the Army Council has decided to allow the Commission to retain his services for the present.

TRAIN FERRY.

RAPID TRANSIT BETWEEN LONDON AND PARIS.

An important experiment in the rapid transport of goods between Paris and London will be made on Monday by the Port of Queenborough Development Company, using the famous train ferry in conjunction with a motor transport company. It is hoped to transport goods between the two capitals in well under 24 hours, at a cost quite 20 per cent. below the present mail service transport.

For Monday's experiment motor lorries will only be used on the English side of the Channel. Between Paris and Calais the goods will be transported by rail. At Calais the railway vehicle will be run on to the train ferry boat, and brought across to Richborough. The train ferry—now being used for the first time for purely commercial purposes—will bring over fresh fruit and vegetables from the South of France, consigned direct to Covent Garden market. Such merchandise as silks, millinery, wines, and similar goods, will also be carried.

"During Monday morning," a representative of the motor firm told the Evening News, "we shall collect the goods from various Paris houses. At noon they will be despatched to Calais in a special truck attached to the fast train. Apart from the necessary Customs examinations at Richborough the goods will not be handled, except to place them on to our lorries, which will meet the train ferry. There will be no pilferage or breakages. If the programme works as arranged the goods will be delivered in London by 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning."

HARBOUR CHARGES.

The Minister of Transport, under the Harbours, Docks, and Piers (Temporary Increase of Charges) Act, 1920, has asked the Rates Advisory Committee to consider and advise him whether he should issue orders modifying the statutory provisions regulating the charges to be made in respect of the following undertakings:—Hartlepool Port and Harbour, Warkworth Harbour, Burghead Harbour, Newry Port and Harbour, Larne Harbour, Dundalk Harbour, Foynes Harbour, Neath Harbour, and Sutton Harbour.

Particulars of the applications and statements in support thereof, submitted by the authorities concerned, may be seen at the Ministry of Transport, Gwydyr House, Whitehall, London, or at the offices of the authorities, on and after 21st October, 1921.

LINKED CAVALRY REGIMENTS.

The War Office announces that in order to continue the present system of linking cavalry regiments for drafting purposes, the 9th Lancers will be linked with the 12th Lancers, and the 14th Hussars with the 15th Hussars. This provision has been rendered necessary by the approaching disbandment of the 5th and 21st Lancers and the 19th and 20th Hussars.

COURT AND PERSONAL.

VICEREGAL LODGE, DUBLIN, THURSDAY.

Her Excellency the Viscountess FitzAlan of Derwent, accompanied by the Countess of Kenmare, honoured the Countess of Mayo with her presence at tea at Palmerstown, Straffan, to-day.

The Right Hon. the Lord Chancellor and Lady Ross, Major Sir Robert Tate, K.B.E.; Sir Henry Wynne, Sir Conway Dwyer, M.D., F.R.C.S.I.; Lieutenant-Colonel W. Elliott, C.B.E., D.S.O., R.A.S.C., and Mr. E. H. Brush, Rifle Brigade, had the honour of being invited to dine with Their Excellencies this evening.

The Marquis of Donegall, who to-day celebrates his eighteenth birthday, succeeded his father when only one year old as sixth Marquis, and also as Hereditary Lord High Admiral of Lough Neagh and Governor of Carrickfergus Castle. The use of two "l's" in the spelling of the title is one of the anomalies of which there are several instances in the Irish peerage. In this case it dates back to 1647, when the Hon. Arthur Chichester, eldest son of Viscount Chichester of Carrickfergus, was made Earl of Donegall. The Marquis on attaining his majority will sit in the House of Lords as Baron Fisherwick, a title conferred in 1790.

Earl French has left Drumdoe, County Roscommon, for England, but will return next week, when he will enter into possession of Hollybrook, his new place near Drumdoe.

Admiral of the Fleet Earl Beatty, who will soon start for America, has promised to unveil the memorial to Lord Beresford in the crypt of St. Paul's Cathedral next Tuesday. It is expected that there will be a large attendance of Irish friends of the late Admiral, who, best known as Lord Charles Beresford, was one of the most popular men in this country.

Viscount Lascelles, who has been the plaintiff in an action for damages occasioned in a motor collision in London, is the elder son of the Earl of Harewood. He served in the European war with distinction, receiving the Croix de Guerre and the D.S.O., and prior to 1907 acted as Honorary Attaché in the Diplomatic Service. On the death of the late Marquis of Clanricarde he succeeded to Portumna Castle and extensive estates in County Galway.

The Marquis of Bute and General Sartorius, V.C., are among the passengers due to arrive at Southampton to-morrow in the Andes, of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company. On Wednesday, at Lisbon, Sir Ernest Shackleton, who is being held up while repairs to the Quest are being effected, lunched on board the Andes.

Countess Roberts and Lady Ursula Blackwood have arrived in England from New York. Viscount and Viscountess Bryce have left New York for Southampton. Priscilla Countess Annesley left London yesterday for Canada.

Lieutenant-General Sir Robert Baden-Powell will preside at the annual dinner of the 13th Hussars, which will be held at Anderton's Hotel, London, on Saturday, October 22nd. A good many years ago Sir Robert was quartered in Dublin, and was a great acquisition in amateur dramatic circles and as an organiser. He delivered a memorable address on the Matabeleland campaign before the Military Society of Ireland, under the presidency of the late Earl Roberts.

A good many weddings are arranged to take place next month, including that of Miss Doris Corinne Hickson, daughter of the late Mr. Edward Fitzgerald Hickson and Mrs. Hickson, of 7 Clyde road, Dublin, and grand-daughter of the late Sir Samuel Walker, Lord Chancellor of Ireland. The bridegroom-elect is Captain Arthur Kenneth Richardson, 3rd Battalion Royal Welch Fusiliers, second son of Captain and Mrs. Arthur Richardson, of Purton House, Wiltshire.

The approaching sale at Castletown, the Kilkenny residence of Colonel and Lady Eva Wyndham-Quin, recalls some interesting details about this handsome mansion. It was designed and erected in the latter half of the eighteenth century by Duchart and decorated by Osborne for the Most Rev. Dr. Cox, Archbishop of Cashel, whose life-size portrait by S. Slaughter hangs in the Dublin National Portrait Gallery, where an engraving from a painting, also by Slaughter, of His Grace's second wife is also to be seen.

Sir Robert Woods has left town for some weeks.

Sir William Taylor has left town for America until the 20th November.

Mr. Ernest W. Harris, LL.D., has returned to 2 St. Andrew street, having recovered from his recent accident.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
THURSDAY NIGHT.

The Prime Minister held a meeting at Downing street this morning of the Unemployment Committee of the Cabinet, the body set up to find ways and means for providing work for the unemployed. Nothing has leaked out as to the proposals to be laid before the House of Commons by the Government, but it is said that Mr. Lloyd George is determined that a well-considered and practicable scheme shall be prepared before the House meets.

In the afternoon a full meeting of the Cabinet took place, and it is said that some important decisions were reached. The unemployment question was first considered, and then came the Irish situation. Sir H. Greenwood and Sir N. Macready were at Downing street during the day, but little importance was attached to these visits. Late this evening it became known that the Government will be represented at the Irish Conference by the Prime Minister, the Lord Chancellor, the Chief Secretary, the Leader of the House, the Secretary for War, and the Colonial Secretary. This is in accordance with expectations.

Sir H. Greenwood is said to be very hopeful that the Irish negotiations will progress well, and that the negotiators sent by Sinn Fein will be moderate and reasonable in their demands. This is also the feeling in political circles, where it is thought that a settlement is certain to emerge from the conference, although there may be many hitches, delays, misunderstandings, and adjournments. Patience and perseverance will be required on both sides, and the proceedings are likely to test the statesmanship of the negotiators to the full.

Mr. Chamberlain has been discussing with the Prime Minister the probable duration of the coming Parliamentary sittings. While it is difficult to forecast what may happen, the official expectation is that an adjournment, if not a prorogation, will be possible some time in the third week. It is not at present anticipated that much time will be needed for a discussion regarding Ireland, though the Prime Minister will certainly make a statement.

There is considerable difference of opinion in the Labour world as to the advisability of accepting the invitation of the Prime Minister to help him in forming a small committee to confer with Ministers regarding practical measures for dealing with unemployment. The section which opposed any such acceptance was strong enough to postpone a decision until the meeting of the representatives of the various Labour associations to-morrow. It is understood, however, that this conference is likely to agree by a majority to accept the invitation, the crisis being regarded as too serious to permit of a refusal. It is recognised that it would be unwise from any point of view to stand aloof at the present critical moment from any steps that any party might take to ease the situation. Labour remembers that it may have a similar position to face one of these days.

The great difference in the wholesale and retail prices for foodstuffs is causing much annoyance generally, and inquiries are now being instigated by public bodies to find out the reason why the consumer should be called upon to pay the inflated prices demanded by the retailer. The campaign inaugurated by some of the London newspapers is having a marked effect on food prices here, but in the country there is little change. London butchers are now showing cards announcing that English meat is much cheaper, but the high price for imported meat remains unaltered. It was stated at Cardiff to-day that the Lord Mayor was buying frozen meat for the poor at fourpence halfpenny per pound, and that the butchers were charging eighteenpence and one and eightpence for the same kind of meat. Inquiry in such circumstances seems to be justified.

The heat wave continues, and to-day the temperature was two degrees higher than yesterday. It is a return to summer, and the people are now accepting it as such. Once again the shopkeepers are advertising ices and cool drinks, and the restaurants offer light summer meals. All the swimming baths which had closed down for the winter are open again and in full swing. At the same time hundreds of people are suffering from violent colds. The weather prophets are very busy with their prognostications, and one points out to-day that we ought to be getting a good deal of rain just now, and that, in all probability, we shall get a good deal of rain this winter. Personally, he is of opinion that it is likely to be a wet winter. The value of this important pronouncement is rather spoiled by the addendum that it must not be regarded as an official prophecy. Official prophecies from the same source ought to provide some interesting reading.

Professor Rota, an Italian man of science naturalised in this country, who is investigating earth currents, points out that these currents, which work with similar currents among the stars and all the known universe, cause many of the phenomena we do not properly understand. Tidal waves, hurricanes, the mysterious course of the Gulf Stream across the middle of the Atlantic, and certainly the weather, are affected by them. At this moment the currents are setting at such pressure and in such a direction that he foresees quite a month, and probably forty days, of intense heat like that of to-day. Though we may have storms and thunder they will, he thinks, bring no relief for a long time yet from the oppressive heat.

A Harley street specialist, consulted about the weather, was of opinion that we can have too much of a good thing. The present heat wave comes when the body is preparing for winter. It has to change back to meet summer conditions. He remarks that "during the past few days London's appetite has completely changed. Fortunately for the digestion, few people are eating steaks. Fish lunches are in favour again. This is very wise. Overload the stomach and heat stroke may be the result. Tight collars, which, I notice, the modern young man favours, are particularly injurious in this kind of weather. They prevent the free draining of blood from the head—result, mental lassitude."

The cost of Dr. Addison's grandiose housing schemes can now be estimated, and the taxpayer will soon know what he will have to pay on this little account. Up to last Friday, on the scheme of grants to private persons to build houses, £4,750,000 had been paid for 19,867 completed houses. No new grants are to be made, but certificates have been issued for 21,116 other houses, and, if they are completed, the scheme will have given the country 41,000 new houses, at a total cost to the taxpayer of £10,000,000.

The delegates for the World Conference on Economic Recovery and World Peace, which will be held at the Caxton Hall next week, are beginning to arrive in London. A new member is Professor Bruin, who acted as the Netherlands representative to the Brussels Conference last year. M. Krassin is now expected to address the Conference on the Russian famine and relief schemes. The proceedings of the Conference over, there is to be a great public meeting at the Central Hall, Westminster, on Thursday next on reduction of armaments.

GIRL MEDICOS.

Two girls at the annual examination at the Charing Cross Hospital Medical School, London, have gained twelve out of the seventeen prizes awarded. They are Miss Mary Joyce Ayrton, daughter of a Chester bank manager, and Miss Gwendolen Mary Brown, a clergyman's daughter.

Miss Ayrton secured nine of the prizes, as well as two certificates, while three prizes were taken by Miss Brown. They are each aged 23, and are great chums.

FULL CABINET MEETING.

PREMIER'S DUAL PROBLEM.

UNEMPLOYMENT AND IRELAND.

ANXIOUS CROWDS AT DOWNING STREET.

A meeting of the full Cabinet took place at Downing street yesterday evening. In view of the unemployment question it is one of the most important meetings which has been held for several years, and the assembly of Ministers was witnessed by a large number of people.

Among the first arrivals were Sir Gordon Hewart, Lord Lee, and Sir Hamar Greenwood.

Shotly before 4.30, the time fixed for the meeting, a number of Ministers arrived in quick succession, including Sir A. Mond, Mr. E. Shortt, Mr. R. Munro, Sir A. Griffith-Boscawen, Lord Birkenhead, Sir L. W. Worthington Evans, Mr. Montague, Lord Curzon, and Dr. Macnamara.

The Cabinet adjourned at about 6.30 until 11.30 this morning. No decisions were arrived at yesterday in regard to the two main subjects under discussion—namely, the Irish question and the problem of unemployment.

With regard to the Irish question, the facts which were before the Prime Minister and some of his colleagues at Gairloch were placed before the full Cabinet. The invitation to Mr. de Valera has already been endorsed by all Ministers, but this was the first opportunity afforded them as a body to review the whole subject.

The Conference will, according to present plans, take place in the Cabinet Room at 10 Downing street.

The Government will be represented at the Conference by the Prime Minister, Lord Birkenhead, Sir Hamar Greenwood, Mr. Chamberlain, Sir L. Worthington Evans, and Mr. Churchill.

In regard to unemployment it is understood that the Prime Minister reported to his colleagues the results of his Flowerdale conference and the investigations that he had directed to be undertaken; and the Cabinet was also informed of the effect of the deliberations of the committees of Ministers held earlier in the day.

It is understood that the Trade Union Congress deputation will wait upon Mr. Lloyd George next week. No time will be lost by the Prime Minister in gathering all the threads of the subject before putting forward any far-reaching scheme.

It is likely that when the Unemployment Committee has reported fully to the Cabinet its work will be regarded as at an end, and that the Cabinet as a whole will thereafter deal with the problem.

Lord Lee, though still requiring the aid of a stick, was sufficiently recovered to be present at yesterday's Council.

ULSTER AND THE CONFERENCE.

INVITATION EXPECTED.

The developments in the Peace Conference will be watched in Ulster with much interest. Although Sir James Craig and the Ulster Cabinet have not been invited, it is almost inevitable, if the Conference proceeds, that such an invitation should be issued, whatever may be the result.

Ulster Unionists hold firmly that nothing can be decided affecting their interests without the consent of their own Parliament, but as the Ulster Premier has more than once declared that Parliament, with its own rights maintained, is ready to co-operate in achieving a fresh Irish settlement.

GLENS OF ANTRIM.

PROTEST AGAINST PARTITION.

Representatives of the Nationalists in County Antrim waited upon Mr. de Valera, at the Dublin Mansion House yesterday afternoon, to protest against "any attempt to cut us off from the motherland and nation to which we belong."

The memorial claimed that if a semi-circle was drawn on the map, beginning at Ballycastle and concluding at Glenarm—including in its scope the parishes of Ramoan, Armoy, Loughgill, Glenravel, Culfeightrim, Cushendun, Cushendall, Carnlough, and Glenarm—a large area was enclosed as Irish and as Catholic as portions of Cork and Mayo. The total population of the district, which constituted what was known as the Glens of Antrim and their outshots, was, according to the last available census, 14,000, and over 9,000—or about 75 per cent.—were Roman Catholics.

In reply, Mr. de Valera said that he understood and sympathised with the position set forth by this and previous deputations from Ulster. Each deputation had set out the position in the part of Ulster they represented, and collectively they presented the case of those of the six-county area who did not want to be separated from the rest of Ireland. Ireland was naturally a unit, and any attempt to depart from the whole nation as the unit led necessarily to political absurdities. Dividing Ireland did not get rid of minority problems, but multiplied them.

He continued—As I said previously, the unity of Ireland is as much a fundamental principle as that of self-determination. Both are based on right and justice.

GALWAY TRAGEDY.

SINN FEIN INQUIRY.

A report of an inquiry, which was held in the Claddagh Hall, Galway, on Wednesday, into the circumstances attending the shooting at the Galway Town Hall on Sunday night, is forwarded by our Galway Correspondent. Mr. F. Lynch, M.P., presided, and several witnesses were examined. All of them placed the responsibility on members of the Crown forces.

After evidence had been taken from several other witnesses, the inquiry closed.

The finding will be announced by the Publicity Department of Dail Eireann.

STATE EMPLOYED WAITERS.

BERLIN, Thursday.

The Government proposal that hotels where the Entente Missions are residing should be provided with adequate staffs has been accepted both by the hotel owners and the strikers.—(Reuter.)

[Waiters in Berlin are on strike. Owing to the inconvenience caused to staffs of the Allied Commissions, the Government suggested that men, to be specially employed by the State, should be permitted to attend to the wants of foreign officials residing in hotels.]

AUSTRALIAN LOAN IN U.S.

NEW YORK, Thursday.

The National City Company will place on sale to-morrow bonds of Queensland, Australia, to the amount of $12,000,000, with a currency of 20 years and bearing interest at a rate of 7 per cent.

This is the first loan of the kind ever floated in the United States.—(Reuter.)

MOROCCAN AMBUSH.

A Tangiers telegram to the Paris Matin says that a Spanish convoy was ambushed at Suk el Had, near Melilla, and its personnel killed or captured by the Riffs.

COLLISION WITH ICEBERG.

TWO SHIPS SUNK.

A thrilling story of peril, hardship, and adventure was told by Captain Otto Sverdrup, who arrived yesterday at Tromsoe (Norway).

Captain Sverdrup, on board the icebreaker, Leven, and accompanied by four other ships, led an expedition into the heart of Siberia in quest of graphite, asbestos, hides, and other products.

Almost insurmountable difficulties were encountered on the homeward voyage through the Obi, the great river of Western Siberia, which is accessible for some time yearly to seaborne trade with Europe round the North Cape.

Two of the ships, the Obi and the Yenisei, collided with an iceberg, and went down. A fierce storm was raging, and with an angry sea running, the crews were only rescued after hours of skilful manœuvring.

Another of the ships lost a propeller in the ice, and is being towed by an icebreaker to Trondhjem.

Captain Sverdrup states that the expedition was successful, and that cargoes of valuable Siberian products were procured.

A ship with a cargo of grain is under way from East Yenisei, one of the largest rivers in Siberia. She will go to Archangel, where she will load timber for England.

WAR BONUS CUT.

ENGINEERS TO BALLOT.

The dispute in the engineering trades over the removal of the Ministry of Munitions war bonus reached a somewhat critical stage last night.

After a prolonged interview with the employers the Unions' Negotiating Committee reported to a Delegate Conference in London, which instructed them to continue the negotiations with the employers later last night, and report to the delegates at the resumed conference to-day.

The Press Association understands that the employers' offered, as a concession, to withdraw the bonus in four instalments instead of three. There was, however, a strong feeling among a section of the delegates in favour of resisting any further cut, and a proposal to take a ballot immediately for or against the employers' offer, without a recommendation, was only defeated by a narrow majority.

To-day's Delegate Conference will decide the question of the ballot, and whether there should be any recommendation to the men on the employers' terms as finally submitted by the Negotiating Committee.

There was some talk among the delegates of leaving the issue to the General Council of the Trades Union Congress.

It is understood that the employers intimated that they proposed to cancel notices of withdrawal of the first instalment of the bonus on October 12, and to substitute notices for the abolion of the bonus by three stages on November 1, December 1, and January 1.

The employés are stated to have reverted from the four cuts to the three cut, and to haxe extended the period of the reductions for a further month.

TURKS SUFFER HEAVILY.

ATHENS REPORTS.

ATHENS, Thursday.

An official communiqué, dated Tuesday, says—On the Afium Karhissar front our offensive against the reinforced enemy continued. The enemy withdrew at all points after suffering heavy losses.

The sixth enemy division which was defending Polidkij was severely defeated, and pursued in a south-westerly direction.

As an indication of the heavy losses of the enemy, we counted a hundred enemy corpses in one part of the battlefield. Our losses were slight.—(Reuter.)

INTERNATIONAL AID.

FAMINE RELIEF CONGRESS.

BRUSSELS, Thursday.

The International Commission for Famine Relief in Russia met here to-day. The meeting was attended by the representatives of Great Britain, America, France, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, China, Italy, Holland, Spain, Poland, Denmark, Latvia, Rumania, Czecho-Slovakia, Esthonia, and Finland.

The Belgian Foreign Minister welcomed the delegates, adding that to-day's meeting was proof that, despite scepticism and doubts, civilisation was making progress.

M. Noulens, formerly French Ambassador in Petrograd, proposed M. Delacroix, Belgian ex-Premier, as Chairman of the Conference. The proposal was carried by acclamation.

M. Delacroix duly took the chair, and invited the delegates to state what their respective countries were doing to assist Russia, and they complied.

At the afternoon session the conventions arranged with the Soviet Government by Dr. Nansen and Mr. Hoover were discussed from the point of view of efficacy of guarantees to be obtained, and best means of distributing supplies in Russia.

The Conference subsequently resumed the examination of the question of sending a Commission of Enquiry to Russia, as had been decided at the Paris Conference. The impression which prevailed at the conclusion of the session was that the Conference was strongly in favour of making use of private initiative, without waiting for official support, especially on behalf of the children of Russia.

After having considered the Hoover and Nansen systems, the delegates appeared to display a marked preference for the American system. They considered, however, that a preliminary enquiry would be indispensable before any demand could be made to their respective Governments for intervention on a large scale.—(Reuter.)

TO GUARANTEE OBEDIENCE.

MILITARY DISPOSITIONS IN SILESIA.

Reuter's Agency learns from a well-informed French source that the representatives of the British, Italian, and French Governments will meet in Paris on Saturday to make preparations for the action to be taken by the troops of the three Powers in Upper Silesia, when the decision of the League of Nations on the Upper Silesian question is made known.

Negotiations on this subject have been proceeding between London, Rome, and Paris for several weeks past, and Saturday's meeting in Paris is to put the finishing touches to the agreements arrived at between the three Governments and draft identical instructions to be given to the British, Italian, and French troops.

It is not yet known who the British Government's representatives will be.

MISCHIEF-MAKER KILLED.

Reuter's Agency is informed that the Persian Legation in London has received the following communication from the Persian Foreign Office: "Colonel Mohammed Taghi Khan, who for some time has been causing trouble in Khorassan, has been defeated and killed in action, while his followers have surrendered to the Government troops."

REPARATIONS IN KIND.

PARIS, Thursday.

A telegram from Wiesbaden states that the principal protocol regarding German reparations in kind, was signed at 5 o'clock this afternoon by M. Loucheur, French Minister of the Liberated Regions, and Herr Rathenau, German Minister of Reconstruction.—(Reuter.)

FIGHT WITH MOPLAHS.

The India Office issues a telegram from Headquarters, Madras district, dated Sunday, saying that a movable column of the Suffolks engaged a band of Moplahs 500 strong near Kumaraputtur, two miles west of Mannarakat (Eastern Walavanad) and killed 40 to 50.

AUSTRALIAN WOOL CONTROL.

MELBOURNE, Thursday.

The wool growers, the British and Australian Wool Realisation Association, and the selling brokers have agreed to request the Commonwealth Government to continue the export regulations until May, 9.—(Reuter.)

BUBONIC PLAGUE SPREADS.

A further case of bubonic plague is reported from Brisbane, making the fourth. Another case is reported from Townsville.

MR. BOTTOMLEY.

ELDERLY WOMAN'S APPLICATION.

An elderly woman applied to Sir Chartres Biron at Bow street Police Court, London, yesterday, for advice as to how she should proceed to recover money she had paid into the Thrift Bond Club, of which Mr. Horatio Bottomley, it was stated, was President.

She said she subscribed £1 for a share, and had never got a penny in return, and as her husband was out of work, and in need, she wanted her money back.

She had written about it several times, and could get no satisfactory reply, but instead had been invited to subscribe another £15. She had never got a penny benefit for the £1 subscribed.

Applicant handed a number of documents to the magistrate, who, perusing one of them, said: "This appears to be a synopsis of the scheme. It was proposed to limit the membership of the club to 500,000 shares of £1 each. That seems to be a great deal of money. Apparently £500,000 is to be sent to Mr. Bottomley, and the drawings are to take place in France. Who is Mr. A. J. Newton, described here as Secretary?"

Applicant—I don't know.

The Magistrate—So far as I can understand, the original scheme, to which you subscribed £1, has failed—that is to say, the original scheme has been abandoned, and you are now asked to subscribe more.

The applicant—They asked for £15, but did not get it.

The Magistrate—You have not been foolish enough to send that.

Applicant—No, I wrote that we could not manage the £15, and asked if I could have the £1 returned.

The Magistrate—If your £1 is not returned you can sue for it in the County Court.

From another letter the magistrate quoted the words: "I shall be glad if you will return your certificate, upon receipt of which a remittance will be forwarded."

Applicant said she did return the certificate.

The Magistrate—I should write and say that unless you get your £1 back by return of post you will sue for it in the County Court.

Applicant—Should I write to France for it?

The Magistrate—No, I should write to Mr. H. Bottomley. Don't part with that letter whatever you do.

The applicant thanked Sir Chartres and withdrew.

Later in the day a man made a similar application at Bow street, and was given the same advice by the magistrate.

STATION COLLISION.

ANOTHER FRENCH ACCIDENT.

Another fatal railway collision occurred in France yesterday. A goods train ran into a stationary passenger train in Agen Railway Station. Two passengers were killed, and three seriously injured.

The goods train was wrecked and much valuable material destroyed, while the permanent way was badly damaged.

Agen is an important railway centre in the department of Lot-et-Garonne. It is 84 miles from Bordeaux.

FAILURE OF AUTOMATIC SIGNAL.

BATIGNOLLES TUNNEL SMASH.

The wreckage in the Batignolles tunnel, in Paris, the scene of the railway collision and fire on Wednesday night, has now been cleared. The total death roll is 26, and about 100 injured passengers are in the hospitals.

The killed included Count Sebran de Rohan Chabot, aged 18 years, and the seriously injured include two Englishmen—Charles Howlett and William Bale—who are in hospital.

Latest details of the accident show that the first train stopped in the tunnel owing to a defect in the air brakes. An automatic signal which should have indicated to the signalman in the box outside the tunnel that the train had been pulled up failed to act.

The driver of the second train did not see the rear lights of the stationary train owing to the smoke and darkness.

Fire broke out in the wreckage of the four coaches, comprising eighteen carriages, which were telescoped by the engine of the second train. Some of the passengers were unable to move and were burned to death. Many acts of heroism on the part of uninjured passengers, railwaymen, and firemen are reported.

INSECURE TRAVELLING.

ADVERSE PARIS COMMENT.

There is much adverse comment in Paris on the fact that the four tunnels which run from the St. Lazare Station to the outskirts of the city are unlighted.

When the Chamber reassembles the Government will at once be interpellated on this accident in particular and the insecurity of railway travelling in France generally.

PANAMA CANAL TOLLS.

AMERICA'S CLAIM.

WASHINGTON, Thursday.

During a debate in the Senate on the Borah Bill aiming at free tolls for American ships passing through the Panama Canal Senator Colt, Republican, advocated leaving the question to arbitration with Great Britain. Legislative action, he declared, would have a very serious effect on the outcome of the approaching Disarmament Conference.

Senator Calder, also a Republican, supported the measure, on the ground that it was applicable only to coastwise vessels of the United States, and not to those engaged in foreign trade. Hence, he pointed out, there was no question of discrimination.—(Reuter.)

AUSTRALIA'S DELEGATE TO WASHINGTON.

MELBOURNE, Thursday.

In the House of Representatives to-day, Mr. Hughes, Prime Minister, announced that, consequent upon an interchange of cables between Australia and the United States, the Federal Government had appointed Senator Pearce, Minister of Defence, to represent Australia at the Washington Conference. Mr. Pearce will sit at the same table as the British delegate.

The members of the Labour Party received the announcement of this appointment with hostility, and Mr. Charlton moved an amendment, urging that representatives of all parties should be despatched to the Confernece.—(Reuter.)

DISPUTES IN KENYA.

NAIROBI, Wednesday.

Major-General Sir Edward Northey, Governor of the Kenya Colony, who returned here last Sunday, in an interview with leading Indians this morning, is stated to have given details of the proposals for the settlement of disputes between the European and Indian communities.

The Indians promised to maintain secrecy regarding the Governor's communication, but they state that the proposals are unacceptable.

Sir Edward will interview the leaders of the European community on Friday.—(Reuter.)

AUSTRALIAN LABOUR SPLIT.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

A resolution of the New South Wales Trade Union Congress, in favour of the formation of an Organised Workers' Group to control political representatives of the working classes, is likely to lead to serious consequences.

Federal Labour members view the movement with alarm, and denounce it as a betrayal.—(Reuter.)

WOMEN'S PROFESSIONAL BUREAU.

BERNE, Thursday.

The second National Swiss Congress for Women, which has been meeting here, to-day concluded its labours. The Congress decided to create a central professional bureau for women.—(Reuter.)

AUSTRALIAN "REDS" APPEAL.

SYDNEY, Thursday.

The Labour Council has adopted a resolution appealing to the workers in Germany to renew their efforts to overthrow the capitalist system.—(Reuter.)

MURDERED BY HIGHWAYMEN.

CORK MILKMAN WAYLAID.

REFUSED TO HAND OVER HIS MONEY.

A milkman, Maurice Christopher Ahern, was shot dead near Cork City on Wednesday night by an armed robber.

The tragedy occurred at a place named Monard, a short distance outside Cork City. Ahern had been delivering milk in the city and was sitting in his trap with a friend named Daniel Healy, of Coolwer, when an armed man stopped them, ordered them out of the van, and demanded Ahern's money. He refused to give it, and the man threatened to shoot unless the money was handed over.

Ahern still refused, and the armed man then counted "One, two, three," and fired. The bullet entered the eye and passed through the head, causing instant death. Healy succeeded in getting away uninjured.

Some time later the body of Ahern was found on the road by other milkmen, who conveyed it home.

Ahern was a member of the I.R.A.

Another report states that Ahern was believed to have had money in his possession. His assailant stepped in front of the car, and, raising a revolver, called on Ahern to halt.

Ahern and his companion were then ordered to stand on the road with their hands up, and the stranger demanded Ahern's money.

Ahern repeatedly refused to hand it over, and the murderer, after threatening him, counted slowly "One, two, three." At the word "three" he fired, and Ahern fell, with a bullet through his head.

CORK KIDNAPPING.

WELL-KNOWN SOLICITOR ABDUCTED.

Mr. J. Travers Wolfe, Crown Solicitor for Cork City and the West Riding of the County Cork, was kidnapped in Skibbereen on Wednesday night. He had attended the Quarter Sessions at Bandon during the day. Soon after his arrival in Skibbereen, where he lives, a number of men seized him, put him into a motor car, and drove away with him.

The kidnapping of Mr. Wolfe has caused a painful sensation in Cork City, where he is extremely popular with all classes. The only reason which his friends can assign for his abduction is that, at the suit of clients who had been awarded compensation for malicious injury, he obtained garnishee orders against the West Cork District and Urban Council, which did not conduce to his popularity in certain circles.

A man, who is said to be a member of the County Council of Clare, was, it is said, hastily taken away from the precincts of Ennis Courthouse yesterday afternoon. It is reported that he was kidnapped and carried off in a motor car.

SHOTS FROM A MOTOR CAR.

ASSAILANT WOUNDED.

News was received at Cork yesterday of trouble at Dunmanway. The Auxiliary police allege that they were fired at and returned the fire, killing or seriously wounding one of their assailants.

Later they turned out and cleared the streets, firing shots. It is also alleged that the Auxiliaries entered some houses.

The following official report was issued from Dublin Castle last night:—

At about 9.25 o'clock last night (5th instant), in Dunmanway, Co. Cork, a member of the Auxiliary Division, R.I.C., was assaulted by a man, who got out of a motor car.

The O.C. Auxiliary Division was informed, and a party of Auxiliary police went to investigate the matter. A few minutes later they observed the car, and on attempting to stop it they were fired on by four or five men who were riding in it. The Auxiliary police returned the fire, with what effect is not known. None of the Auxiliary police was injured.

The matter is being fully inquired into under the liaison arrangements.

CONTINUOUS FIRING.

HUNGARIAN LAWLESSNESS.

VIENNA, Thursday.

It is officially announced here that Hungarian bands are keeping up a continuous rifle and machine gun fire upon the Austrian forces posted at Bruck. They are also firing upon the open town, thus exposing the civilian inhabitants to danger.

The Austrian Government has notified the Powers of this fresh violation of the principle of international law, and protests strongly against this recurrence of Hungarian lawlessness.

Telegrams from Wiener Neustadt report that Hungarian bands have crossed the Styrian frontier in several places, and have attacked the Austrian frontier guards.—(Reuter.)

FRANCO-TURKISH HITCHES.

KEMALIST OBSTRUCTIONS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, WEDNESDAY.

Beyond the agreement for the exchange of prisoners, which was largely brought about by the efforts of M. Franklin Bouillon, little progress has so far been made in the negotiations which are now being conducted at Angora. The Kemalists, having successfully stemmed the tide of the Greek advance, are now much less amenable to the efforts of M. Bouillon than was the case three months ago, when the Greek forces were threatening Angora.

The Kemalists are now raising difficulties about the agreement negotiated by M. Bouillon in July, and their new demands are threatening to imperil the success of the negotiations.—(Reuter.)

MARGOT'S LITTLE JOURNEY.

Mrs. Asquith's diary of her "Little Journey" in 1891, is continued in the current issue of the The Ladies' Field."

On board a P. and O. steamship going from Brindisi to Cairo "Margot" met the first officer at dinner. "He was," she writes, "the sort of man I never meet—small, with clear eye and yellow hair, indifferent and civil, with a scanty laugh and business-like way of eating or refusing. He was neither stupid nor vulgar, clever nor refined, just a simple, every-day man."

Her first night on board was not comfortable. There were "awful noises," doors banging, people talking, boxes and cases dragged along over her head, and bumped down, and "feet going all the time, with shouts and screams."

"That night," says Mrs. Asquith, "was my idea of hell!"

At Cairo Mr. Milner took her to the pony races, where she met "the Barings and Grenfells, etc." Sir Evelyn struck her as "man of stature," and Lady Grenfell was "wonderfully agreeable," with a small waist." In the evening she heard Italian music, which she describes as "insultingly obvious," and as having "no argument whatever."

AN ECLIPSE OF THE MOON.

A partial eclipse of the moon takes place on Sunday night, October 16, when all but about one-twentieth of its surface will be obscured by tthe earth's shadow.

Commencing on the left-hand side of the moon at a point 45 degrees from the north, the eclipse will end on the right-hand side at a point 77 degrees from the north. The times (Greenwich) are as follows:—Commencement, 9.14 p.m.; reaches maximum, 10.54 p.m.; end of eclipse, 12.34 a.m.

CANAL TRAGEDY.

On Wednesday night the wife of the canal lock-keeper at Thornhill, Dewsbury, heard screams, but owing to the dense fog could not discover the cause. Yesterday morning the police had the lock emptied, and found the bodies of a man and a woman.

£20,000 GIFT.

Sir Edward Brotherton, an ex-Lord Mayor of Leeds, has given £20,000 to the Leeds University for the development of bacteriological study and research.

OUR WONDERFUL OCTOBER.

STRAWBERRIES AND SEA BATHING.

How long will it last? The question is asked in the street, in the theatre, in the home, everywhere. Politics are not concerned, the truce is forgotten—the abnormal heat wave is the one topic of the moment. Overcoats and "woollies," which have been dragged from their summer recesses, where they lay smothered in camphor in order to keep the moths at bay, have been packed away again, and young and old are revelling in the glories of an Indian summer.

There has not been such heat in October for more than a century, and according to Sir Oliver Lodge, who, with other scientists, attributes the abnormal heat to increase of solar energy, the maximum period has not yet been reached. That phase, he believes, is due a few years hence. Perhaps by that time we shall have limited our clothing, like the Zulus, to moochas, or even have gone back to the days when artistic decorations in woad were sufficient.

But the present is all that the Dublin citizen concerns himself with. In his opinion, sufficient unto the day is the temperature thereof, and he is out to make the most of it before he is driven to the fireside by "chill November's surly blast." Sea bathing is maintained with enthusiasm, summer sports are still continued, and many camps around the city have not been "struck" as yet.

From the country districts come tales of renewed insect and vegetable life. Buds, perhaps labouring under the delusion that spring has come, are appearing on the trees and shrubs, and many flowers are once more breaking into bloom. In Castlecomer strawberries are making a determined effort to bear another crop of fruit, but it is feared that their opportunity has gone by.

And over all flit butterflies and moths, while bees and wasps have emerged from their winter quarters, and buzz gaily along the hedgerows and through the fields. Flies have returned in enormous numbers, and have invaded dwellings in as pugnacious a spirit as they did some months ago. As a result, trade in fly-papers has revived, and the shopkeepers have sanguine hopes of being able to clear off their stocks before the cold weather comes.

Yesterday the temperature was not quite so high in Dublin as on the previous day, although in the forenoon, when the sun blazed from a clear sky, one's thoughts seemed to turn naturally to August and holidays. Then about one o'clock rain began to fall, and continued for some time, but the afternoon was, on the whole, fine.

No rain fell during the night, and the new motor sweeper was able to take the mud from the city streets under ideal conditions. It does its work efficaciously and quickly. An indication of the extreme mildness of the weather could be gathered from the rapidity with which the stone setts dried after the sweeper had passed.

From both Great Britain and France reports state that the heat wave is continuing. In Surrey heath fires have again become of everyday occurrence, and the largest ever known in the Cranleigh district broke out on Wednesday night, and devastated many areas.

London again perspired in a temperature of eighty-four degrees, while the thermometer in Paris registered eighty-two degrees, a point which had not been reached in October since 1757. Rain fell yesterday in Scotland, and on Wednesday night an exceptionally severe thunderstorm swept the Lochaber district, a railway bridge being washed away.

Science naturally is interested in the heat wave, and Captain Marriott, R.N., is now developing his theory that the world is at the hottest period of its existence. The glacial epochs, he says, reach their maximum at intervals of about 32,000 years, and we are now about 1,600 years removed from the last and the next maximum of cold.

This prospect of an ice-bound earth, however, need not at the present cost us any sleepless nights.

DRAGGED FROM BED.

MIDNIGHT ASSAILANTS IN THURLES.

A report from Thurles states that early yesterday morning six or seven men visited four houses in the town and assaulted some of the inmates with sticks.

They first knocked at the doors, and when those inside asked who was there the reply was "The I.R.A." In the house of a man named Spillane they used flash-lights, and then called for Spillane's son, John. When the young man got out of bed, the intruders, it is alleged, seized him, and shouting that they were the men for the I.R.A., beat him with sticks.

The cries of Spillane's mother and other members of the family aroused the whole street. Spillane is seriously unwell, suffering from cuts and bruises on the head and body.

Similar scenes were witnessed at the houses of Thomas Moroney, a baker, whose son was attacked, and is now in a serious condition in hospital. Cornelius Ryan, a labourer, was badly beaten, and Edward Ryan's son, John, was also assaulted. These houses are all in the same street.

John Ryan ran to a house a couple of hundred yards off, and, having called for assistance, fainted on the doorstep. He is also in hospital, and is said to be in a critical condition.

None of the injured men took any part in politics. The attackers, it is said, wore long coats, and in the dark they could not be recognised.

The affair has caused the greatest excitement in the town.

NO ADMISSION.

BRITISH SUBJECTS AT ELLIS ISLAND.

NEW YORK, Thursday.

The British immigrants now detained at Ellis Island include a party of students from South Africa and a Mr. Walter Davis, who was born in British barracks in Egypt, where his father was serving in the British forces. Mr. Davis's status is now under investigation in the light of this explanation.

An American law sets a limit to the number of immigrants which may enter the country in any one month. A passenger may find on arrival at New York that the total monthly number of some particular category to which he may belong has already been admitted, and he may, therefore, be detained at Ellis Island, with resulting serious discomforts. A number of cases of this sort have occurred lately.—(Reuter.)

PRICE OF BRICKS.

MINISTRY OF HEALTH AS "PROFITEER."

A special memorandum submitted to the Hammersmith Council Housing Committee alleges that the Ministry of Health charges 10s. per 1,000 more for bricks than they can be bought for in the open market.

The Committee, it is stated, have in hand contracts covering 551 houses, and provision was made for ordering, whenever possible, materials from a Department of the Ministry of Health, and one firm of contractors intimated that they would want approximately 7,000,000 bricks in connection with their contract.

The memorandum proceeds: "The contractors recently informed the Council that they could buy in the open market Fletton bricks at 10s. per 1,000 less than the price charged by the Ministry of Health. Instructions were at once given to take the matter up with the Ministry, making them the offer to supply at market rates or to lose the order.

"The reply was to the effect, 'That the commitments of the Government for bricks must be considered before purchases in the open markets.'

"The Department," adds the memorandum, "were informed that the Council could not, in any circumstances agree to pay more than the market price for the bricks. As no satisfaction could be obtained from the Government on the point, the contractors were ordered to purchase bricks at the lowest possible rate on the open market."

THRIFT BY ALL CLASSES NEEDED.

Lord Leverhulme, speaking at the World Service Exhibition in Liverpool, said that we have arrived at our present state of civilisation and comfort entirely by the saving of frugal and self-denying persons who spent less than they earned. The nation in order to prosper must encourage thrift and saving by all classes.

TO CONTEST CENTRAL HULL.

Mr. Herbert William Looker, of Great Baddow, Essex, who was for 25 years a solicitor at Hong Kong, was last night adopted prospective Unionist candidate for Central Hull, in opposition to Commander Kenworthy.

Mr. Lloyd George was present last night at a performance of "The Gondoliers" at the Prince's Theatre, London.

FROM TO-DAY'S LONDON PAPERS.

SHAPING A POLICY.

CABINET MEET AGAIN TO-DAY.

"THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY SAYS:—

The Cabinet met yesterday afternoon, and sat for two hours discussing unemployment and the position of industry. No definite conclusions were reached. Another meeting of the Cabinet will be held this morning. The Unemployment Committee of the Cabinet, of which Sir Alfred Mond is Chairman, met yesterday morning.

The Prime Minister and Mr. Austen Chamberlain were also present. The Unemployment Committee was not in a position to present its report to the Cabinet yesterday, but the report is to be expedited as much as possible, and the Committee will then probably cease to exist.

Its place may be taken by the new Committee, which the Prime Minister proposes to set up. This Committee is to consist of members of the Government and of representatives of industry and commerce and of Labour. Whether Labour will have anything to do with such a Committee is to be settled to-day, when the General Council of the Trades Union Congress, the Parliamentary Labour Party, and the Executive of the Labour Party will hold a joint meeting. The Labour leaders have to decide either in favour of influencing policy from within as members of a consultative committee, or remaining outside as detached and independent critics.

The Prime Minister is now taking a leading hand in shaping the policy of the Cabinet on unemployment. His interviews with industrial and financial authorities at Gairloch were an evidence that he was not content to leave the preliminary investigations to the Cabinet Committee, and there is reason to believe that the Prime Minister's personal inquiries have not led him in quite the same direction as that which the Unemployment Committee proposed to take.

The problem is enormously complex and difficult, and there is opportunity for a great variety of views. The lengthy Cabinet meeting yesterday, and the summoning of another meeting for to-day are an indication that Ministers are not finding the framing of their policy an easy matter.

PACIFIC CONFERENCE.

PRIME MINISTER NOT TO ATTEND.

The Times, summarising a lengthy message from its Melbourne Correspondent, observes:—Mr. Lloyd George is not going to the Washington Conference on the Pacific and the question of disarmament. The decision was announced in a telegram from the Prime Minister, which, with other messages, was read by Mr. Hughes in the Australian House of Representatives yesterday. The urgency of domestic concerns is given as the reason for Mr. Lloyd George's inability to leave England. Mr. Balfour and the First Lord of the Admiralty (Lord Lee of Fareham) are two of the delegates who will represent Great Britain, and Senator Pearce has been approved by the Federal House of Representatives as the representative of Australia.

IRISH CONFERENCE.

LORD MONTEAGLE'S PLEA.

Lord Monteagle, in a letter to The Times, from Foynes, County Limerick, writes:—In your issue of Friday last—surely a White Friday—you point out that the difficulties which must still arise in the course of negotiations "would be the more easily overcome in proportion as the spirit animating the general agreement had been loftily discerning." Such a spirit evidently animates the people of Great Britain, and any manifestation of it by the British Government would surely be welcomed on both sides of the Irish Sea. Are any such not yet manifested possible at the moment? Two have been frequently advocated by those pleading for Irish peace—(1) A general amnesty of political prisoners and internees, and (2) the removal, if not of the Army of Occupation, at any rate of the Black and Tans.

Now, there may be administrative difficulties about the latter, as the Black and Tans permeate the whole Royal Irish Constabulary, which could hardly be disbanded at a moment's notice; and, as regards a general amnesty, which, presumably, would result from a settlement, Mr. Lloyd George has always demurred to its being treated as a preliminary. But surely a distinction might be drawn between convicted prisoners and internees. Internment without trial is as repugnant to British tradition as government without the consent of the governed is to the British Constitution. If the Conference was a big camel to swallow, would not the release of these men and women be but a small gnat? And yet, how large it would loom in Ireland.

I believe there are two thousand or three thousand odd—say on the average 100 centres of irritation in every county—few parishes perhaps without one or two. No single measure would now, I believe, more conduce to peace or help to overcome the inevitable difficulties of the Conference.

FRANCE'S FINANCES.

AGREEMENT WITH GERMANY.

The Times, dealing in a leading article with the agreement signed at Wisebaden yesterday for the payment in kind of a part of the reparations due by Germany to France, observes:—The agreement with Germany permits her, should France so desire, to make payments in kind to the total value of seven milliards of gold marks (£350,000,000) between the present month and October, 1925, for the reconstruction of the territories devastated by the German armies, the value of such payments being, of couse, credited to her in the Reparations Account. The relief to Germany from the arrangement ought to be considerable. She will be paying the producers of the goods supplied to France in paper currency at home, instead of being compelled to purchase foreign paper for delivery to France to the amount of seven milliards of gold marks, or such less amount as France may consent to accept. To this extent her financial position will be improved.

France, on the other hand, should be benefited by the more rapid restoration of her ten provinces to some semblance of their normal life. What may be the bearing of the arrangement upon the rights of the other Allies cannot be fully ascertained until the full text of the documents in which it is comprised has been carefully examined. It is clear that a separate arrangement between the German debtor and one only of Germany's Allied creditors might in certain circumstances prejudice the others.

There are contingencies, a Paris newspaper points out, in which the proposed method of payment might confer upon France a real priority over them. On the other hand, the partial solution of a difficulty which presses very heavily upon our French friends may be thought, upon a broad view of the situation, to possess general advantages outweighing possible objections of this order.

EGYPTIAN PROBLEM.

A POWERFUL SENTIMENT.

Commenting, editorially, upon the return of Adly Pasha, the Egyptian Prime Minister, to London, where it is expected the discussions between the Egyptian delegates and the Foreign Office, regarding the status of Egypt, will shortly be resumed, The Times observes:—By the varied experiences of the war and by all the arts of agitation, a powerful sentiment in favour of independence has been generated in the Egyptian people, and this strong, but often uninformed, sentiment has now to be reconciled with the geographical and economic realities of the Egyptian situation, and with the interests of British trade and British policy. This is the real aim of the negotiations that are now being conducted in London, and it is of immense importance that these negotiations should be in every respect successful. It is of importance that Egyptian sentiment should be taken scrupulously into account, for this newly-awakened force may too easily be moved by some unfortunate accident, by ignorance and inexperience, and by malicious agitation in wrong and dangerous directions.

The news of positive achievements and real progress in the London negotiations will tend to stabilise an excessively mobile and uncertain Egyptian opinion, more particularly since it is at present dominated by men who have a real stake in the country, and will hardly, in their own interests, be disposed to go to the logical extreme of their abstract doctrine.

COTTON FREIGHTS.

We learn, says The Times, that in connection with the Egyptian cotton freight controversy information has been received from Alexandria to the effect that the United States Shipping Board is prepared to carry cotton-seed to the United Kingdom at freights 1s. per ton below the British rates. It is further prepared to pay the difference between the rates of insurance charged for cargo carried in American vessels and the lower rates of insurance quoted for cargo by the British liners.

In a message from New York yesterday, The Times Correspondent states:—The fight being waged by the United States Shipping Board against "silent efforts" of foreign shipping interests to prevent the development of the American Mercantile Marine was described by Mr. Albert Lasker, Chairman of the Board, at the Advertising Club, New York, yesterday. The whole eighteen weeks of its existence had, Mr. Lasker said, been devoted by the new Board to preparing the way for an energetic exploitation of the Jones Act, which he called the "Magna Charta for America on the seas." Some of the obstacles faced by the Board, Mr. Lasker said, seemed insurmountable.

"We cannot," he declared, "gain trade on the seas without displacing existing trade enjoyed by foreign ships, and these foreigners are at work in their own national interests, for which we cannot blame them, to undermine the possibility of an American Mercantile Marine. The Jones Act must be given life by the present Board. Hostile forces from within and without must be met and vanquished, or America will perish from the oceans."

ROMANCE OF AN AIRWAY.

FROM CAIRO TO BAGDAD.

CARS BLAZE TRAIL FOR AIRMEN.

HOW A SHEIK REPAID A KINDNESS.

In a lecture before the Royal Aeronautical Society in London yesterday afternoon, Air-Commodore H. R. M. Brooke-Popham, C.B., C.M.G., Vice-Chairman of the Society, gave an interesting description of the new desert air route between Cairo and Bagdad.

He mentioned that the original party who went in cars to survey the route served the useful purpose of actually marking it out for the aeroplanes which were to follow them.

The cars forming the convoy followed carefully in one another's tracks, with the result that there remains, stretching away into the desert before the eyes of the pilot setting out on his journey, a ribbon-like guide to his destination.

This track also ensures the safety of an aeroplane which may be forced to descend or becomes damaged en route, because the succouring machines know that they have only to "Follow the string" to arrive, sooner or later, at the derelict.

When the original party set out there were no maps of this part of the desert, but since that day it has been accurately surveyed, and prominent landmarks indicated on the maps.

Wireless telegraphy played a romantic part in this survey work. Use was made of the stars to fix position accurately at night, and to do this it was necessary to check the chronometers carried. The way this was done was for the surveyor to set up a small portable wireless set each night at 10.30 p.m., and then listen for the time signal sent out from the Eiffel Tower, in Paris, over 2,000 miles away.

Another example of the value of wireless occurred while the lecturer himself was flying over the route recently—"as a sort of Cook's tourist"—when one of the machines accompanying him sent out a wireless signal to say that it would be forced to land owing to engine trouble. This message was taken down in his own machine and handed to him, and, at the same instant, was being received at Bagdad and Ammam, whence it would be wirelessed on to Cairo, many miles away.

GRATEFUL SHEIK.

The Royal Air Force appear to be doing good work in improving British prestige among the natives. A friendly sheik, who had been wounded by a raiding party from another tribe, had been met by a British convoy in the middle of the desert, and, on meeting three British aeroplanes at the oasis of El Djid, the convoy asked if it would be possible to convey the sheik to Bagdad for treatment.

The permission of Sir Percy Scott, at Bagdad, was obtained by wireless, and within a few hours the sheik was safely in hospital in Bagdad, with his injuries under examination by X-rays. An interesting sequel occurred a few days later, when one or our aeroplanes was damaged in landing at this same oasis.

A flight of six other machines was sent out from Bagdad with spares, and the whole party had to camp at El Djid for the night. At sunset five natives on camels appeared, and silently took up outpost positions round the camp, where they remained until dawn, when they as silently rode away.

It subsequently turned out that they were from the wounded sheik's tribe, and, hearing that the Air Force was in some sort of trouble, had come to see that they were not molested during the night.

AMERICAN RELIEF WORK.

OFFICIALS COMING TO DUBLIN.

Mr. John J. Pulleyn and the Hon. Richard Campbell, both of New York City, have arrived in London, having crossed on the Lapland, and are at the Carlton Hotel. Mr. Pulleyn is the President of the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank, the largest savings bank in the world, with assets totalling nearly £1,000,000,000, and is the treasurer of the American Committee for Relief in Ireland. Judge Campbell, who is secretary of the Relief Committee, is a member of the firm of Gilbert, Campbell, and Barrance, attorneys, of New York. Mr. Pulleyn and Judge Campbell left for Ireland last night.

They stated that the American Committee for Relief had collected by popular subscription in the United States a sum equivalent to £1,250,000 at the present exchange, of which some £250,000 had already been distributed in Ireland through the Irish White Cross Society. Of this, about £100,000 had been distributed in Belfast, they said, in weekly doles to the familes of 10,000 workers who were driven from employment in the Belfast shipyards more than a year ago.

In visiting Ireland they return the visit paid to New York by the Lord Mayor of Dublin and Mr. R. A. Anderson, representing the Irish White Cross in May last, at which time an agreement was entered into between the American Committee and the Irish White Cross as to the manner in which the American funds were to be distributed.

MONARCHIST TALK IN BAVARIA.

BERLIN, Thursday.

Great apprehension is felt with regard to the activities of the Monarchists in South Germany. Rumours have been rife during the last few days of a plan to declare a Monarchy in Bavaria, and the movements of King Ludwig have been discussed with a great deal of suspicion.

There is no means at present of testing their truth, and they must, for the present, be regarded as rumours only.—(The Times Correspondent.)

COUNCIL MEETING IN PRISON.

There was a full meeting of the Poplar Borough Council in Brixton Prison last night.

The Press Association understands it is probable that an application may be made in the High Court to-day for the release of the imprisoned Councillors.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

The outstanding features in the Stock Markets yesterday were renewed liquidation in Oil Shares and the sharp break in Argentine Railways Securities, says The Times. Gilt-edged Securities were active, and the market was firm at the outset, becoming a shade easier after the Bank rate decision. South African Shares weakened, owing to the further decline in the price of gold, and Industrial Securities were again subjected to selling pressure on provincial account.

PARLIAMENT OF THE NORTH.

REVIEW OF THE FIRST SESSION.

SOME INTERESTING LESSONS.

The Parliament of Northern Ireland has adjourned to the 13th December, and a review of the work which it has accomplished during its short existence may not be out of place.

It became evident early in the session that the machine was not working smoothly, and that something was clogging the wheels. Neither in regard to the working of the departments which are to come under its control nor in the important matter of finance can the Northern Parliament yet be called a free agent in its control of the governmental machine. It must not, however, be assumed that its defects and deficiencies are such as to render it permanently unfit to govern.

INHERENT DEFECTS.

Its defects and difficulties are those which might be expected to exist in any new assembly. It has been set up, but has not yet been given control, and its position at the moment lends itself to criticism; but any criticism which does not keep these facts in mind would be unfair. For instance, the control of the departments cannot come into operation until the division of the Irish Civil Service and the transfer of officials to the North are carried out. It is well known that the Government of Ireland Act is based upon the creation of two Parliaments in Ireland. The one in the North has been established and, to a limited extent, is functioning. The one in the South has not been established.

FINANCE.

In the matter of finance, the position to the lay mind presents innumerable difficulties. The probable income and expenditure can never be accurately estimated by any Government, but there are one or two guiding principles in the financial scheme of the Government of Ireland Act, which causes Northern Ireland to look forward to the future with optimism. The surplus of Irish revenue, after the payment of the transferred and reserved services and an Imperial contribution of £18,000,000—£3,000,000 of which is from Northern Ireland—was to be divided between Northern and Southern Ireland, the Northern share of the surplus being estimated at about £2,250,000, and the Southern at £7,000,000. Critics have pointed out that nothing like this surplus will be available, but the Northern Cabinet contend that these are about the only fixed figures in the financial scheme, and that the Imperial contribution was fixed at £18,000,000, instead of £14,000,000, or some other figure, because it enabled this surplus to be available. In the North, at any rate, there is sufficient confidence in the Imperial Government to believe that when it states that 2¼ millions surplus will be available this sum will be forthcoming when the Joint Exchequer Board is established.

BUSINESS OF THE SESSION.

The principal business transacted during the recent sittings was of a financial nature. An Exchequer (Borrowing) Bill was passed to legalise the temporary borrowing of a sum of £160,000, which it was estimated would cover the expenditure of the Northern Government until the end of the financial year in March. Another bill was the Exchequer and Audit Bill, which forms the basis of the Exchequer of Northern Ireland, with the arrangements for supervision by the Auditor-General. The Exchequer will be framed upon the Westminster model without the Paymaster-General, each department being held responsible for its own payments, and subject to the control of Parliament and the supervision of the Auditor-General. These two bills were in charge of the Finance Minister and the Under-Secretary, Mr. J. Milne Barbour, D.L., both of whom displayed during debate a thorough grasp of the financial position.

THE OPPOSITION.

Although there is no permanent opposition in the Northern Parliament, such as might be provided by the Sinn Fein and Nationalist members if they had attended, it soon became evident that in Mr. R. J. Lynn, Mr. William Coote, Mr. McGuffin and Mr. Thompson Donald there was the framework of an opposition which intended to make its presence felt, and to act as a brake on any laxity, either in administration or legislation, should the necessity arise. The Prime Minister, Sir James Craig, in his handling of the business of the House, and particularly in his attitude towards the "Opposition," displayed real Parliamentary statecraft. He welcomed, rather than deprecated, criticism, so long as it was directed towards obtaining information or was constructive in its effect. Only one division was taken during the sittings, which showed that the "Opposition" did not muster more than three, without counting Mr. Coote, the teller for the Opposition.

HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS.

Sir Dawson Bates, as Home Secretary, and Mr. Andrews, Minister of Labour, also displayed a good knowledge of their duties and of Parliamentary procedure. Of the Under-Secretaries, Mr. J. Milne Barbour and Mr. McKeown, Under Secretary for Commerce, were the most conspicuous, particularly in reply to questions. Of the rank and file, Mr. J. H. Robb, LL.B.; Mr. Crawford, Mr. Duff, and Mr. Cooper indicated that they will be useful members. The Speaker, the Right Hon. Hugh O'Neill, kept all the members strictly to order in conformity with the best traditions of the Imperial Parliament, while Mr. Moles was equally effective in the same direction during his occupancy of the chair.

COPYING WESTMINSTER.

If any criticism might be offered with regard to the procedure of the House, it may be said that there is, if anything, too much of a desire to follow the precedent at Westminster, with the multiplication of officials which this system entails. In a House the size of the Northern Parliament this seems unnecessary and out of place, and the dignity of Parliament could be equally maintained without such a close modelling upon the Westminster Legislature.

THE SENATE.

The Senate has not had much work to do during the short period which it has been in existence, but that little it has done well. It is clear that the Senate will afford a useful medium for ventilating public questions, particularly those affecting the agricultural community, and Ireland as a whole, which might be overlooked in the bustle of the House of Commons. The discussion upon the importation of Canadian cattle and the completion of land purchase are two conspicuous examples. Lord Londonderry, the Minister of Education, as Leader of the Senate, brings to the duties ripe Parliamentary experience, while Viscount Massereene and Ferrard is an able Unionist Whip. Colonel Sharman Crawford, Mr. J. Hill Dickson, Mr. J. Graham Leslie, D.L.; Mr. Adam Duffin, LL.D.; Mr. Harold M. Barbour, and Sir William Coates, Bart.—who, with Sir James Johnston, has been appointed Deputy Speaker—made useful contributions to the debates. Mr. Joseph Cunningham upholds the Labour interests in the Senate, and the Marquis of Dufferin and Ava makes a dignified Speaker.

HALLS FOR UNEMPLOYED.

BISHOP'S PLEA FOR SYMPATHY.

Thousands of men are on the streets, and the only door open is the public-house, says the Bishop of Chelmsford, in an appeal to the clergy and local councils in his diocese for sympathy with the unemployed.

He suggests that the largest buildings should be thrown open to the men, that they should be provided with books and newspapers, permitted to smoke, and that the whole atmosphere of the halls should be charged with comradeship and welcome.

"To leave men on the streets through the cold days of winter," he says, "will be a sure way of increasing discontent. Prevention is better than cure."

INCREASED WAGES.

The average realised price of pig iron for the past quarter having shown an advance of nearly 4s. 6d. per ton, the Cleveland blastfurnacemen's wages will, under the sliding scale, be advanced 4½ per cent., making them 77½ per cent. above the standard.

BANK OFFICIAL ARRESTED.

John J. Corley (19), married, residing at William street, Waterford, was arrested on the information of the manager of the Munster and Leinster Bank, Waterford, yesterday evening, and at a special court, before Mr. Higgins, J.P., was charged with the larceny of £70, the property of the bank, whilst acting as cashier. He was remanded, pending inquiries.

Mr. Spelman, District Inspector, who prosecuted, said that he blamed the bank more than the accused, as they should have put an older hand in the responsible position of acting cashier.

GUINNESS' FIRST CLASS CLERKSHIPS.
Candidates should note that all the 6 appointments at the last examination and 22 of the 24 appointments offered at the 3 previous examinations were gained by pupils of ROSSE COLLEGE, Stephen's Green, Dublin.—(Advt.)

DUBLIN AND THE PROVINCES.

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS

HOUSEHOLDER'S TRIALS.—The Recorder of Dublin yesterday heard a large number of applications under the Increase of Rent Acts. There are about two hundred in the list. In respect of a Whitworth road house, the tenant objected to an increase on the ground that the house was not in proper repair. The ground floor was occasionally flooded owing to an overflow from a sewer. The water rushed through the kitchen and out by the front door. The case was made for the landlord that the overflow could not be avoided until the main drain which the Corporation was laying had been completed, the cost of which was estimated at £3,800. The condition of the road, said Mr. Reddin, solicitor, was "reminiscent of Northern France during the war." "Is it dug out or dug in?" asked the Recorder. He was told that the roadway was a series of trenches. An agreement on the matter was reached.

PLOTHOLDERS' INTERESTS.—The United Irish Plotholders' Union and Allotment Committees have been informed that the Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction for Ireland has obtained authority for the reletting of allotments in 1922 of land now in their possession, and for the compensation of owners of such land on similar terms to those in operation this year. The plotholders will, however, be required to pay an increased rent. This is a purely temporary provision to permit of the carrying on of the allotments, legislation on the subject being at present impracticable.

PORT AND DOCKS BOARD.—At the weekly meeting of the Dublin Port and Docks Board yesterday, the Chairman, Mr. George Byrne, proposed a resolution, which was passed, expressing sympathy with Mr. Paul, T.C., a member of the Board, on the occasion of the death of his wife. The Board confirmed an order of the Board on the 29th ult., appointing Mr. Dowling as assistant engineer, at a salary of £450 per annum.

A laburnum tree at the corner of Sandymount avenue, Ballsbridge, is flowering for the second time this year.

Dalkey Urban Council has accepted the tender of Mr. George Bowers, Ballybrack, Co. Dublin, for the erection of 22 houses at £15,362. This tender was the lowest of five.

Market day shipments of cattle from the port of Dublin yesterday were not so heavy as they were last week and the week before. Nine vessels took live stock cargoes across the Channel.

In sending Ellen Toal, a domestic servant, for trial on a charge of stealing the property of her employer, the magistrate at Kingstown yesterday congratulated Constable Murphy (87 F) on the manner in which he had conducted his case.

The case in which the trustees of Lord Longford and Lord De Vesci seek an ejectment order against John Dixon, the tenant of 26 Mulgrave street, Kingstown, was disposed of yesterday by the plaintiffs agreeing to carry out necessary repairs to the satisfaction of the township's engineer, while the defendant agreed to pay the rent due.

LEINSTER.

LABOURER "PROFITEERS."—At Enniscorthy District Council meeting yesterday the rent collectors said that a large number of labourers had sub-let their cottage plots, contrary to the terms of the signed agreements, to farmers. A member described this sub-letting as a disgrace. The tenants were paying 13s. a year for the plots, and were sub-letting to farmers at from £4 to £7. The Council decided to withdraw the plots from the offending tenants.

BAD EXAMPLE.—It was reported to the Enniscorthy Urban Council yesterday that practically all the weekly tenants were refusing to pay the rates, the result being that a sum of over £800 was outstanding in the September account. He said that defaulters were largely influenced in their action by the bad example of the defaulters in the Urban Council itself.

White gloves were presented to Judge Greene at Drogheda Quarter Sessions yesterday.

Tullamore Homes and Hospital Committee find the number seeking relief greater than under the old Poor Law system. This was due to the fact that applicants need not appear personally before the committee, as of old, and, as there is less exposure, the decent poor, it was stated, are applying in larger numbers.

E. McSherry (The Macks Company) was fined £12, with a recommendation that it be reduced to £5, at Wicklow for failing to stamp tickets of admission to his entertainments in the town in March last. Mr. G. O'Donnell, Excise officer, said that there was no stamp on his ticket, and, on inquiring, found that many of the audience had no stamped tickets.

CONNAUGHT.

STEAM TRAWLER POACHERS.—Fishermen who operate in Galway Bay and round the Aran Islands complain that their means of livelihood are being stolen from them by English, Scottish, and French steam trawlers, which fish within the three mile limit. Recently, the Government patrol vessel, Helga, fired a warning round from a gun, and the trespassing vessels at once steamed away, but as soon as the Helga had gone the trawlers returned and recommenced fishing.

ROADS NEGLECT.—Roads in the West Riding of Galway are becoming dangerous, as no work has been done on them for some time. The Surveyor to the District Council reported yesterday that the County Council had ordered the stone-breaking plant to remain idle, and he had been unable to prepare metal for repairs.

"Legal" proceedings in future are to be brought before Republican "courts," the Athlone Town Council has decided.

Potato crops in the Castlerea area are reported to be the best on record, but "black is setting in, although no blight was noticed on the stalks."

When a chauffeur was brought up on remand at Galway Petty Sessions yesterday, charged with causing the death of a woman, the police stated that the witnesses would not attend. The District Inspector was instructed to have the witnesses present on Monday, on a warrant if necessary.

ULSTER.

TYRONE'S BILL OF DAMAGES.—Ninety-nine claims, totalling £70,000, are listed for hearing at the Dungannon Quarter Sessions, which opened yesterday. Messrs. Inglis and Company, Belfast, were awarded £520 for the burning of three bread vans and their contents. Thomas McKenna was awarded £553 for the destruction of his barn and contents. The applicant said that he had been accused of bringing ammunition into the district in egg boxes; it had also been alleged that he had advocated the shooting of policemen. On the other hand, he had received an anonymous letter ordering him to cease trading with Belfast. The Postmaster-General claimed £15 for the theft of a bicycle. It was stated that an "I.R.A. receipt" was given to a man from whom the machine was taken. The judge dismissed the claim on the ground that it was a case of larceny.

ROYAL APPROBATION.—Copies of "War Poems" and "Lyrical Links," the work of Miss Lily Marcus, Londonderry, have been forwarded to Queen Alexandra. Colonel Streatfeild, Her Majesty's Private Secretary, writing for further copies, says that Queen Alexandra has read the volumes with interest. He adds that Her Majesty "hears with pleasure of your successful efforts on behalf of blinded soldiers and sailors at St. Dunstan's by the publication of the poems."

Nurse M. Jones, dispensary midwife at Lurgan, has resigned that position after 22 years' service.

The Local Government Board has overruled the decision of the Tyrone County Council, refusing Mr. John Crawford, retired rate collector, a superannuation allowance, and have issued a sealed order fixing the amount at £102 17s. 4d. per year.

WORLD'S SMALLEST WATCH.

Lincoln Corporation has decided to accept the bequest made to the city by Mr. James Ward Usher, a well-known connoisseur, and estimated to be worth over £100,000. Failing this acceptance, the bequest would have gone to South Kensington Museum.

It embraces a unique collection of gold and gem watches, including a Mary Queen of Scots watch (the smallest repeating watch in the world, one-third of an inch in diameter, mounted as a ring), miniatures by Cosway, Fragonard, and others; old china, gold coins, and many Nelson relics.

The residue of Mr. Usher's estate is left to provide a building for the collection.

PLEA FOR THE COALITION.

Mr. McCurdy, Chief Government Whip, spoke yesterday at Worcester, when a Council of Coalition Liberals for the Counties of Worcester and Hereford was formed.

He said that there were three great questions facing the country for solution: Ireland, disarmament, and the industrial problem.

Any sensible Liberal would say that, just as the Coalition was essential for the settlement of the Irish question, and would be the most important factor at Washington, so would the raising of purely political issues by Labour be disastrous at the present time.

PROBLEMS OF FINANCE—III.

POLITICS AND BUSINESS.

CENTRAL EUROPE'S PLIGHT.

THE PAROCHIAL MIND.

(BY NICHEVO.)

Politicians who meddle with business are like bulls who meddle with china shops. It is not their job. Yet all over the world they are usurping the functions of men of affairs, with disastrous results to everybody. We have seen how the existence of fantastic war debts has turned the money market into a sort of financial switch-back railway; but the so-called trade policies of most of the world's civilised nations are every bit as much to blame.

Let us begin at the bottom. The Allies' victory resulted in the complete collapse of the old Austrian Empire. The dual monarchy of the Hapsburgs gave way to a weird collection of "independent" States, including Hungary, Czecho-Slovakia, Austria, Jugo-Slavia, and Poland. All these States, under Hapsburg rule, hated the Empire, and, as they do not seem to be able to get on without hating something, they have celebrated their appearance among the society of nations by a furious outburst of hatred against one another. This is expressed chiefly in an economic way. In the old days the Austrian Empire may have been a political anachronism; but, at least, it was more or less an economic unit. Its various component parts supplied one another with their different products, and a good system of transport helped "Austria" to play an important rôle in the economic activity of the European Continent.

FREEDOM AND ECONOMICS.

Freedom, however, changed all that. The new States did not worry about such minor matters as economics. Their idea was to do as much damage to their neighbours as possible. So they began to raise tariff walls against one another. Czecho-Slovakia would not trade with Austria; Hungary would not touch Jugo-Slavia with a forty-foot pole; Poland was too busily engaged in invading Russia, Galicia, Lithuania, and Upper Silesia to think about doing business at all; and the Allies did not interfere, as they, too, were doing their best to play off one of the Central European States against the other.

The upshot of it all was that in a very short time Central Europe ceased to matter as an economic partner in the world's affairs. The tariff restrictions were pushed to the most ridiculous extremes. Everything was forbidden to be imported everywhere, and the once flourishing Empire of the Hapsburgs became a thing of sorry shreds and patches. Naturally, the new currencies of the little States soon started on the downward path. Poland led the way, and the Polish mark, nominally worth about a shilling, now can be purchased by optimists at the rate of 25,000, or thereabouts, to the pound. Broadly speaking, one can say that the currencies of Central Europe, possibly with one or two exceptions, have ceased to have any real value whatever, and the only way out of the Gilbertian situation which has arisen in that part of the world seems to be to scrap the whole issue and begin again. Certainly, no sort of improvement can be expected until these little States tear down every single tariff wall which they have built against their neighbours and give themselves a chance to develop their trade. Within certain limits they can supply one another's needs, if they will only forget the fact that they are independent politically, and bear in mind the much more important fact that they are inter-dependent economically.

THE EVILS OF RESTRICTIONS.

What is true of Poland and the rest of these infant States is also true, in a greater or less degree, of the adult States of the world. Trade restrictions are to be found everywhere. Europe to-day is a regular net-work of Customs houses, toll gates, departments for the exclusion of this, that, and the other thing, offices for the refusal of various kinds of permits, licences, certificates, passports, tickets of leave, and Heaven only knows what else. The trader does not know where to turn. Restrictions of one sort or another lie in ambush for him at every corner; officialdom dogs his heels from early dawn to dewy eve. All the ordinary channels of trade are clogged, and if he wants to do business, he must devote a large portion of his time to fighting either his own or some other Government, or, more often than not, half a dozen Governments at once, to secure the necessary sheaf of documents which will permit him to send a cake of soap from Liverpool to Warsaw or Oklahoma.

Nobody could succeed in building up trade in such circumstances, and yet there are innocent souls who express wonder at the fact that we have so many unemployed in these islands. While so many trade restrictions exist throughout Europe the exchanges cannot possibly recover; on the contrary, they must get worse as time goes on. While the exchanges are in their present state the people of Europe cannot possibly buy our goods—or they cannot pay for them, which comes to the same thing. How could a Pole, for instance, even were he a millionaire, afford to buy an eighty-guinea English motor bicycle, when it would cost him something like 2,000,000 marks?

Economists in all parts of the world have come to the conclusion long ago that trade restrictions must be removed before any headway can be made with the work of general reconstruction; but peoples are still thinking in terms of politics, and while that lasts nothing can be done. Signs, however, are not wanting that some nations, at any rate, are beginning to come to their senses. Last week the whole world was pleasantly surprised to learn that France had acquiesced in the raising of the economic "sanctions" on the Rhine. Readers of the Irish Times, no doubt, are acquainted with the nature of these penalties, which may have been admirable from the political point of view, but were economic lunacy. Now they have gone, and trade between France and Germany may begin to brighten up, to the great material advantage of both countries.

Restrictive measures, such as economic "sanctions" and the like, have a nasty habit of coming home to roost. Strange though it may appear, so far as Germany is concerned, they seem to have had an almost exactly opposite effect to that which they were intended to produce. The idea of the various import duties, licences, and so forth, clearly was to prevent German goods from coming into the British Islands—in short, to stop dumping. What has happened? Have German goods been kept out? Have British industries been protected?

THE SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST.

In the month of August our imports from the Fatherland showed an increase of £158,000. The country is being swamped with German goods of all sorts. Toys, dyes, watches, clocks, paper, cardboard, knives and forks, glass, lenses, iron, steel, scientific instruments—there is hardly a limit to the variety of German manufactures which is being dumped on the British market, and what applies to the British market applies in varying measure to all the principal markets of the world.

How is this possible? The answer is only too easy. The German currency has been depreciated to such an absurd extent that the wily Teuton manufacturer has been enabled to snap his fingers at the very restrictions which have played such a decisive part in the collapse of the mark, and, despite all export and import duties, he is now able to sell his wares on the Allies' doorstep at a far lower price than they can hope to offer to their customers. The sentimental factor has almost disappeared. Sauve qui peut has become the motto of the business world, and buyers, unfortunately, care less about the country of origin of an article than about its cost. The blunt truth is that, ceteris paribus, ninety men out of a hundred, and the French are no exceptions, will buy the cheap article every time, whether it is made in Britain, Germany, Cochin China, or Azerbaijan.

Economic realities and the doctrine of the survival of the fittest have got the better of the politicians, and the question now is—how long will Europe's law-givers persist in their refusal to recognise this essential fact? The whole tendency of modern life is to get away from the old ideas of narrow nationalism and to organise the world into a vast co-operative society, in which every nation will have its part to play, producing those commodities which nature and circumstances have ordained that it shall produce with the minimum of economic waste, and exchanging them freely with its neighbours against their products.

The day of water-tight communities has gone for ever; that is why the little nations of Central Europe and elsewhere are such a nuisance. They, and those who support their parochial policies, are like the old lady who tried to keep the tide out with a sweeping-brush. Mankind is rushing on. Its progress is blind: it knows neither towards what goal it is being driven nor what force is driving it. But its tents have been struck once again, and nothing can arrest its march. Politicians may succeed in plunging the earth into renewed misery, but they can do no more. The sooner, then, they abandon their attempt to hold the laws of economics in check by absurd rules and regulations—which are made only to be broken—the better for everybody.

THE KINGDOM OF IRELAND.

WHO REPRESENTS THE AIRD-RI?

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

When Henry II. came to Ireland in 1172, the last Aird-Rí sat (metaphorically) upon the Throne of Tara. Actually, he sat in his own rath-encircled fort in Co. Roscommon, for he was King of Connaught. Nevertheless, though he had probably never visited Tara, or set his foot upon the "lia fal," that Stone of Destiny on Tara Hill, which was believed to cry aloud when under the foot of the rightful king, he no less represented in his own person the long line of 193 kings, who, in the bardic reckoning, had ruled the inferior chiefs as monarchs of Ireland. King Rory or Roderick O'Conor, last Aird-Rí of Ireland, held the supreme monarchy; that is, he received the tributes and held the hostages which were its outward symbol, and in his time almost its sole function.

Already, when Œngus, the Culdee, sang his song of the glories of the saints and the greatness of Armagh, grass had grown over the raths on Tara Hill, and the old inauguration rites had long been given up, and the sacred office of Aird-Rí had wandered uneasily from the O'Brians of Munster to the O'Loghlans of Ulster, and thence to the O'Conors of Connaught, as each, in turn, was strong enough to assert his authority. They were "Kings with opposition," for they were liable at any moment to find a rival in another province prepared to dispute their authority.

ENGLISH HENRY.

Then Henry came; "English Henry," who could speak no English, but only French and Latin, and who had probably the merest sprinkling of English among his troops of Flemings, Welsh, and Norman-French. It is popularly said that Henry came to conquer Ireland. In reality, he sent his barons on before him at the express and earnest solicitation of an Irish King, Dermot MacMorrough, King of Leinster, who hurried all the way to Aquitaine to find him, in order to beseech him to come to Ireland to help him in his tribal wars.

Henry, then deeply immersed in his wars in France, was in no urgent hurry to accept the invitation to help Dermot to fight his own ill-governed and rebellious lords of Leinster and his old foe, Tiernan O'Rourke. He merely gave him a general permission to get what help he could, and Dermot took full advantage of the liberty accorded to him to take as large a body of foreign troops as he could persuade to follow him back to Ireland.

He made large offers of land for settlement, with the hand of his daughter and the succession to the kingdom of Leinster; that is, he gave them leave to conquer it, with his own help in doing so. This is how the English came to Ireland. They came at the earnest invitation of the Irish themselves.

When Henry at length arrived in person, he brought with him a formidable army, but not to fight the Irish. His main object was to over-awe his own powerful Norman barons, who were threatening to set up an independent kingdom on the shores of Ireland. He had no need to fight the Irish, for they came in of their own accord, glad to recognise a paramount authority able to interpose between them and the Norman barons, who were establishing themselves in the heart of the country upon the tribal lands.

PEACEFUL CONQUEST.

Henry's conquest of Ireland was a peaceful one; he spilled no drop of Irish blood. There was no occasion to do so, for the kings all over the country, save Ulster, came in and submitted. Dermot MacCarthy, of Cork; Donal O'Brian, of Limerick, who surrendered his capital into Henry's hands; MacGillapatric, Lord of Ossory, Malachy O'Phelan, Chief of the Decies, and after them the lesser Chiefs of Munster, all came in and were sent away with gifts. They were certainly not conquered. Nor was Tiernan O'Rourke or the Chiefs who submitted in Dublin.

King Rory O'Conor hesitated; he was well aware that his submission was the passing away of the ancient office of Ard-Ri from Ireland. But before Henry left the country Rory had sent his herald to the borders of Meath to place his submission in the hands of Hugh de Lacy, as representing the king, side by side with O'Brian, of Thomond, and this oath of fealty was renewed by both princes when they met near the O'Brians old palace of Killaloe to consult on their course of action before the Council of Windsor.

By this submission of the Irish Ard-Ri to his English Over-lord, the suzerainty of the kings of Ireland was transferred by the act and consent of the kings themselves, to the Crown of England. The English kings became the representatives of the Ard-Ri, and in Ireland the office died out. When Rory retired into the Monastery of Cong he had no successor.

Three years later, at the Council of Windsor, in 1175, in the presence of the King, barons, and bishops of England, Rory renewed, in the most solemn manner, his submission to Henry. He was represented by three of the highest officials and ecclesiastics of Ireland: the distinguished Lorcan (afterwards St. Laurence) O'Toole, Abbot of Glendalough, Archbishop of Dublin and Chancellor; the Archbishop of Tuam and the Abbot of St. Brendan.

Here the High-King of Ireland renewed his former treaty, promising "to hold his lands well and peaceably of the English King as his liege lord," while he, in his turn, was to be permitted to receive dues as of old from the underkings, part to hold for himself and part to be made over to the suzerain.

THE TRIBUTE.

But the tribute as Ard-Ri was no longer to be held in Irish hands; that and the hostages passed to the King of England as Lord of Ireland. The tribute was to be "a tenth of all choice skins of animals slaughtered in Ireland, to be approved by dealers," birds of the chase (falcons and hawks), and Irish wolf-hounds. The hostage to be given was Rory's own son.

It was while conducting this boy to Henry in Normandy shortly afterwards that Archbishop O'Toole died at the Monastery of Eu, having been taken ill on the journey. Two years later a Council of Bishops and Abbots was held at Waterford, and presided over by the Papal legate, Cardinal Vivianus, who "openly showed the king's right to Ireland," and enforced it by a threat of Papal ex-communication against all who refused obedience to Henry's authority, a position consistently upheld by the Popes up to the religious division of Elizabeth's reign.

It was at this Council that the Bull of Adrian IV., given to Henry by the hand of John of Salisbury as long before as 1155, was first brought forward, reinforced by letters of the then Pope, Alexander III. In part, but only in part, the claim of the Kings of England rested on this Bull. It is the fashion to say that the Irish kings made their submissions in ignorance, or that Rory was a weak king terrorised into submission. When we considered that before the Councils of Windsor and Waterford, Rory had already twice sworn fealty along with O'Brian, the next most powerful Chief of the time to himself, it can hardly be contended that he was hurried into submission.

When we remember that his representative at Windsor was one of the most learned, influential, and travelled ecclesiastics of his day, it can hardly be said that he acted in ignorance. The Irish kings of Henry's day were no ignorant fools. When we consider that the submission at Windsor was made hard on the heels of the great defeat of the English at Thurles, we see that it was not the consequence of terror or weakness.

In truth, it would be difficult to find any great measure of State more solemnly thought out or more gravely and deliberately compacted and agreed by both parties than was the act of submission and fealty made by the High King of Ireland to his new Over-lord.

That Rory took his submission seriously is shown by the little effort he made to withdraw from it. Save for one tentative raid into Meath, he remained quiet in Connaught, so far as the English were concerned, though like his successors, he did not feel that his loyalty to the king precluded him from pushing the English barons out of his territories, on which they steadily encroached.

CATHAL OF THE RED HAND.

Cathal of the Red Hand, who succeeded as King of Connaught in 1198, fought the English, but he renewed his submission to John, and fought the king's wars against the De Lacys. He calls the English king "his very dear lord; King of England, Lord of Ireland."

If we ask who now represents the old office of Over-lord or Aird-Ri of Ireland, there can be only one answer: the Over-lordship lies in the hands, and is one of the attributes of the King of England, who, in the reign of Henry II., became King of Ireland. The claim of the English Sovereign is not primarily by conquest; it came by invitation, reinforced by submission, frequently repeated, and up to the time of Pope Pius V. supported consistently by Papal authority. Few Rulers can, perhaps, show a better claim.

It may be useful to-day, when the question of the retention of the link of the Crown is once more before us, to recall the history of its origin. No historical question has been more persistently placed in a false light. That the retention of this link will secure to Ireland a higher and more dignified position than she could claim as a petty independent State cannot be doubted.

The kingship in these democratic days carries with it no right to interference or dictation; but it remains as the witness to an old tradition, and as the symbol and token of friendly co-operation, the only sure ground of future prosperity. Are there not still owing the tributes of skins, well-selected, of falcons and of wolfhounds, which the king's progenitors received?

Sir Joseph Cook, Australian Commonwealth Treasurer, has been appointed Commonwealth High Commissioner in London.

DEARER LIGHT IN BELFAST.

CALL FOR BUSINESS MEN.

A requisition is now being signed in Belfast, asking the Lord Mayor to call a special meeting of the City Council in Committee, with a view to the immediate appointment of an Electricity Committee for the municipality of Belfast.

Councillor T. E. Alexander, who has taken the initiative in this matter, holds the view that a committee must be constituted without delay; that, whether the former committee reassumes office or not, the personnel of that body should be augmented by six leading business men, who could sit in an advisory capacity only, and give to the electric undertaking the benefit of their counsel and experience.

The effect of the increase in electricity charges was indicated at yesterday's meeting of the Belfast Police Committee, which was presided over by Sir Joseph Davison. A letter was addressed to the Committee, intimating that from the commencement of the current quarter the charge for electricity would be 8d. per unit.

In reply to Councillor Alexander, it was officially stated that, calculated at the increased tariff, the lighting of the Albert Memorial would represent an expense of £92 yearly, whereas at the present time the lighting of the clock only cost £56 per annum, this being a fixed charge.

IRISH LINEN TRADE.

IMPROVED OUTLOOK.

The Irish flax markets were well supplied last week, and all flax was quickly bought up at unchanged prices. Yarns are stiffer in price, and it is much more difficult to find material for immediate delivery.

The higher cotton rates will mean a struggle for better prices in unions, and some orders have had to be referred back for price revision.

The merchant section is finding more inquiries all round for household linens. The United States continue to operate on household goods where delivery can be made promptly.

The handkerchief section finds good demand for the Christmas trade.

Many American buyers are visiting the market.

Since last report there has been a steady demand from the United States for coloured dress linens, especially medium and heavy weight goods. Deliveries are wanted up till end of December, and in some cases January shipment has been arranged.

BOMB-THROWING IN BELFAST.

The military authorities issued the following statement last night:—

With reference to the communiqué issued on October 5, in which it was stated that a bomb was thrown into a house occupied by a Roman Catholic family at 15 Great George's street, Belfast, it has now been ascertained that several Protestants reside in this house.

DONEGAL FLAX CROP FAILS.

MUCH UNEMPLOYMENT FEARED.

At the County Donegal Agricultural Committee meeting yesterday at Lifford, the Chairman, Mr. Edward Gallen, said that the flax crop in Donegal had been a failure, and that, consequently, there would be great unemployment.

Other industries would be affected by the failure.

MANCHESTER FINANCE.

Manchester City Council referred the question of the serious position of its finances back to the Finance Committee. The report as to the outlay of nearly 10 millions to which the city is committed can now be considered alongside the proposal of Sir Edwin Holt to appoint a supervisor to control and co-ordinate all expenditure.

"THE IRISH HOMESTEAD."

The management of "The Irish Homestead" has decided to bring this interesting publication within reach of the casual reader once more. The clever articles of Mr. George Russell ("Æ.") made for it many friends, and a continuance of his searching analyses of current events in Ireland may be anticipated. "The Irish Homestead" will be on sale at all newsagents, and at Messrs. Eason's Railway Bookstalls, on Saturday. The price is 2d.

DUBLIN AND SOUTH-EASTERN TRAINS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—From October, 1919, till last month trains left for Greystones every evening at 5.10 p.m. and 6.5 p.m., and rumour was busy with the whisper that the disappearance of Government interference and the eight-hour continuous day would bring further improvements. Judge, then, the disgusted surprise of subscribers at the announcement that the 5.10 train would be withdrawn and that the 6.5 would be slowed up by ten minutes. It is now impossible for business people to reach Greystones before 7 o'clock—two hours after many offices close. One can only conclude that the much-despised "control" was not without its good points.—Yours, etc.,

AMERICAN MARKETS.

STOCKS CLOSED IRREGULAR.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, Thursday.

Stocks opened irregular. Copper issues were strong on the strength of the price of the metal, and domestic Oils and Sugars were absorbed. Then the market reacted under selling of Mexican Petroleum on rumours of unfavourable Mexican developments. Sumatra Tobacco broke 6 points, on the omission to declare a dividend. The absence of public buying and lack of support for speculative issues created a widespread bear sentiment. Liberty Loan 4¼ p.c. were heavily bought at the year's high level. A partial rally occurred in the late dealings, on covering of Mexican Petroleum and a demand for Shippings and Coppers, but the market closed irregular.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Thursday.

WHEAT—Spot market irregular. Red and hard winters are ¼c. up, but mixed Durum ½c. down. 250 boatloads of wheat were engaged to-day by exporters. Receipts—Atlantic, 524,000; last year, 1,383,000. Clearances, 172,000; last year, 750,000.

FLOUR quiet.

CORN on spot steady at ½c. advance. Receipts—Atlantic, 80,000; last year, 16,000. Clearances, 26,000; last year, 94,000.

LARD—Cash barely steady, with prime Western and Middle West 15 points lower.

COFFEE opened steady, 7 to 13 points higher, and continued to improve on favourable Brazilian market advices, reactionary buying, Wall street purchases, and covering of shorts. The market closed firm, 14 to 22 points dearer. Spot steady and unchanged. Approximate sales, 18,000. Dec., 7.94; March, 8.02; May, 8.08; July, 8.14; Sept., 8.11.

SUGAR—Spot steady. Porto Rican, 4.13. Sugar futures quiet, 2 down all round. Dec., 2.38; Jan., 2.35; March, 2.31; May, 2.38. To-day's sugar sales to refiners for prompt shipment—9,000 bags of Porto Rica at 4.13, and 36,000 of Cuban at 4.23.

COTTON opened steady, 2 points up to 8 down, after some weakness in the early dealings due to disappointing cable advices, liquidation, and selling by houses with foreign connections. The market advanced owing to trade buying, the firmness of sterling exchange, absence of Southern selling, covering of shorts, and the improved spot situation. There was a partial set-back on New Orleans interests selling, but on trade buying being renewed, and under local bull and Wall street support, prices rose again, and the closing was firm, 31 to 65 points higher. Spot steady at 70 points advance. New Orleans spot 25 points up. Receipts—Atlantic, 13,000; Gulf, 27,000. Exports—Britain, nil; Continent, nil. Oct., 20.15; Nov., 20.25; Dec., 20.37; Jan., 19.98; Feb., 19.84; March, 19.70; April, 19.53; May, 19.36; June, 19.12; July, 18.90; Aug., 18.60; Sept., 18.20.

COTTON OIL easy; summer yellow spot 25, and December option 11 points lower.

PETROLEUM steady.

KANSAS CITY—Wheat easy at 1½c. fall; No. 2 hard winter, 111½.

ST. LOUIS—Wheat inactive; No. 2 red winter, nominal.

WINNIPEG—Wheat opened easy, 1½c. to 1¾c. lower, but rallied later, closing steady, ½c. down to unchanged; Dec., 113; May, 119½. Oats steady at ⅜c. advance; Dec., 40.

CHICAGO, Thursday.

WHEAT opened easy, ⅜c. to ⅞c. lower, and further receded on favourable crop and weather reports and commission houses selling; then advanced under rumours of export business, smaller interior receipts, and shorts covering. Fresh weakness supervened on weaker Winnipeg advices, increasing stocks, bearish Buenos Ayres cables, selling by cash houses, and liquidation, but on smaller country offerings, export business, and outside support the market closed steady, 1⅜c. up to ½c. up. Spot easy. No. 2 hard winter spot, 110½; No. 3 do., 109½; Oct., 108¼; Dec., 113½; May, 118.

CORN opened barely steady at ⅛c. to ¼c. decline, and went lower on large receipts, bearish Buenos Ayres cables, and selling by cash houses; then rallied on less favourable crop reports, a better cash demand, smaller country offerings, shorts covering, and commission house buying for South-West account, the market closing firm at ⅛c. to ½c. improvement. Spot No. 2 mixed, 48½; Dec., 49¼; May, 55.

OATS firm, ⅛c. to ¼c. higher. Dec., 35¼; May, 39¼.

PROVISIONS opened dull, and declined on lower hog prices, light liquidation, expected heavy hog receipts in the West next week, and outsiders taking little interest. After a partial rally on covering and professional support, the market closed irregular, with lard 15 points down to 5 up, pork unchanged, and ribs unaltered to 5 points dearer. Lard—Oct., 9.70; Jan., 9.00; March, 9.20. Pork—Nov., 17.00; Jan., 15.00. Ribs—Oct., 5.75; Jan., 7.80; May, 8.20.

BACON steady and unchanged.

Receipts of hogs at 15 principal Western centres, including Chicago, since March 1st total 14,650,000 against 14,905,000 the same season last year.

HOGS easy, with light 15 to 20, and heavy 10 to 15 points down.

TRAINING SHIP FIRE.

BURST OIL PIPE.

A naval inquiry is being instituted in connection with a fire on H.M.S. Fisgard, the training establishment at Portsmouth for boy artificers, two nights ago. The outbreak was due to a burst oil pipe in one of the boiler rooms.

The alarm was promptly given, and it was deemed advisable to turn out the lads, numbering between 600 and 700. They were paraded ashore while fire parties quelled the outbreak on the ship.

Thanks to the very prompt manner with which the position was handled, there were no serious consequences.

FAREWELL TO MISSIONARIES.

A farewell meeting to outgoing missionaries was held last night, under the auspices of the Hibernian Church Missionary Society, in the Mission Buildings, Townsend street, Dublin. The missionaries total eighteen, of whom twelve are returning and six are recruits. Their names are as follow:—Miss C. L. K. Burton, recruit for Palestine; Rev. G. H. Carpenter, recruit for Trinity College, Foochow; Rev. A. B. Elliott, South India; Rev. B. Heaslett, Bishop-designate of South Tokyo; Rev. C. W. F. Jebb, Yoruba; Mrs. H. R. Pakenham, Kienning, Fukien; Rev. H. C. Read, recruit for Poona, West India; Rev. A. D. Stewart, Hong Kong; Rev. C. J. Walsh and Mrs. C. J. Walsh, Japan; Miss A. J. Armstrong, returning to Fukien; Miss C. May Gibbings, recruit for Uganda; Miss W. Creed Meredith, recruit for Punjab; Rev. A. W. R. Norton, returning to Foochow; Ven. Archdeacon Owen, returning to Kavirondo, Uganda; Dr. H. R. Pakenham, returning to Kienning Hospital, Fukien; Miss Janet Woodroffe, recruit for Persia, and Rev. T. B. Woods, returning to Fukien. The last eight named were present during the proceedings. Brigadier-General Crosbie, C.M.G., in the course of his address, said that they should not have a spirit of despondency regarding this great work.

CHANGING THE PRAYER BOOK.

The Convocations of Canterbury and York have occupied fourteen years in considering and framing their reply to Royal letters instructing them to inquire into the advisability of revising the Prayer Book. During that period the subject has passed from Convocation to committee and committee to Convocation.

It is now stated that, at long last, the task is nearing completion. But as the whole question has still to be remitted from national assembly to committee and back again, and then referred to the Ecclesiastical Committee of both Houses of Parliament, before it becomes law, some authorities declare that no change in the Prayer Book need be anticipated before 1930.

Authorities differ also on the probable cost of making the substitutions that are finally approved of, but one estimate is that it may amount to £10,000.

At less than half last years price.

Rock GUARANTEED UNDERWEAR

An Irish-made product of the highest grade which can compete successfully both in quality and price with the best brands of imported underwear

There are two kinds of 'Rock' Underwear

1 ALL WOOL 'Rock' Garments stamped ALL WOOL are made from pure new wool only, and no other material whatever enters into their composition. For warmth and comfort they are ideal wear for the cold weather. Being knitted perfectly and evenly they readily adjust their shape to the movements of the body. Where price is not a serious consideration we recommend these all wool garments.

2 MIXTURE To meet the demand for lower priced garments than ALL WOOL we have lately introduced this class—a mixture of Wool and Cotton. The materials used are the finest [illegible] that purchasers will be thoroughly satisfied with them. They carry the same guarantee of quality, and are comfortable, warm and durable.

Whichever of these you prefer you may rest assured that it is the best of its class obtainable. You can pay more for another brand but you cannot get better underwear than 'Rock'

FINANCIAL NEWS

IRISH STOCK EXCHANGES.

DUBLIN.

MARKETS ALMOST STAGNANT, WITH INCREASED DULNESS IN TONE. "WICKLOW" RAILS BETTER.

Business was quite poor in volume on 'Change yesterday, with practically no feature beyond a little bidding for "Wicklow" Rails, and often dulness in other directions. There was no change made in the official value of money here or in London, though some reports from the latter centre of late suggested a reduction of ½ p.c., i.e., from 5½ to 5 p.c., and here 6 to 5½ p.c. Government Funds held firm. Corporation Stocks were under a little notice. Banks were practically neglected outside of Nationals, which were the turn better. Dulness was reflected by the few adverse changes shown in the shares of Breweries and Distilleries dealt in. Marconis slipped further. Among Rails, Dublin and South-Eastern issues and Great Northern Guaranteed were better; but Great Southern and Western Debs. fell a point. Dunlop Rubber Ord., Old and New, were a little irregular. The former eased and the latter hardened. Cottons were lower among Textiles. Oils were again under sale pressure.

The Funds were firm. Consols repeated 49¼, Victory Bonds 76, and War Loan 5 p.c. 89½, while the price for the Deed Stock was ¼ better at 89¾.

Corporation, etc., issues appeared firm. Bray Township 3½ p.c. rose ½ to 55, and Rathmines and Rathgar 3½ p.c. 11/16 to 55¼; while Dublin Port and Docks 3½ p.c. repeated 45½.

In Banks, Nationals rose 1/16 to 16.

The market in Breweries, etc., appeared sellers. Dublin Distillers Pref. fell 5s. to 85s., and Guinness Ord., 1/16 to 38 11/16.

Marconi Ord. fell 6d. to 33s. 3d., 33s. at the close.

Among Home Rails, Dublin and South-Eastern Ord. rose ¼ to 15, and the Pref. 1½ further to 40. Great Northern Guaranteed improved ½ to 59½, while Great Southern and Western Debs. fell 1 to 66.

In Dunlops, the Ord. fell 1½d. to 6s. 10½d., but the New Ord. rallied 3d. to 6s. 6d.

Trams, Gas, Bakery, Drapery, Trading, and Miscellaneous Securities closed stagnant and quite idle.

As regards Manufacturing shares, Coats were unchanged at 46s. 6d., and the Pref. at 10. Cotton Ord. fell 9d. to 31s. 3d., and Spinners fetched 33s. 9d. Helys Pref. were 3d. better at 15s. 3d., and White, Tomkins rose 9d. to 17s. 9d.

Other business done included Imperial Tobacco at last price, 49s. Mexican Eagle Oil realised 76s. 3d., 75s. 7½d., and the new fell away to 72s. 6d. for a few shares. Shell Transports realised 86s. 3d.

THE LATER MARKET.

There was a quiet amount of dealing, with City Steam strong, and a further 2 better at 122. Burke Debs. realised 7⅞ for a broken lot. Coats were firm at 46s. 6d., and Dublin Artisans' Dwelling repeated 80s. Guinness eased a further 1/16 to 38⅝, and Lever Bros. Debs. fell ¾ to 91. Oils were under notice, owing to the further slump in Mexican Eagles, which fell to 75s. 3d. here, and to 73s. 9d. in London. Shells held firm at 86s. 3d. Dunlops have assumed a more settled appearance. Dunlop Rubbers were steady at 6s. 10½d. Parent Tyre Pref., however, rose 6d. to 9s. 9d., and the Deferred were dealt in at 29s. 9d., which is rather better than the closing price the previous day.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

The Caltex Oil Company report that they have received advice from Mexico of the renewal of their contract for the sale of the entire production of their well, Camalote No. 1, about 80,000 barrels a month, to the East Coast Oil Company (subsidiary of the Southern Pacific Railroad), at an increased price. The production for the month of August from the above well, Camalote No. 1, was 82,800 barrels, or 13,046 tons.

Of course, the upward course of the rate of exchange on New York is primarily responsible for the reaction in those Japanese Bonds saleable there, but another important factor is that sinking fund purchases have ceased, and, according to report, will not be resumed until early next year. As with Mexican 5 per cent. Bonds, there are two prices for identical Japanese Loans in New York. In the case of the 4 per cent. of 1905, bonds of £100 and £200 closed yesterday 93¼ per cent., whereas bonds of £20 were only 91¼ per cent. Bonds of £100 and £200 of the 4½ per cent. First Series commanded 113¼, whereas bonds of £500 were only worth 112¼ per cent.; and, in the case of the Second Series of Japan 4½ per cent. Loan, £100 and £200 bonds were 113¼ per cent. and the bonds of £20 only 112¼ per cent. In the first example given, the difference of two points is exceptionally large just now. Briefly, the reason why New York offers more for £100 and £200 bonds than £20 and £500 bonds is because they are good delivery in Wall street, and in the case of the £20 bonds because these are too cumbersome to handle, and when dealt in in quantities occupy too much safe deposit space.

The announcement by the Rubber Growers' Association that the scheme for the formation of a Rubber Producers' Corporation is to be dropped will hardly come as a surprise. It was patent that the scheme depended, apart from its possible merits or demerits, upon sufficient support and cohesion to warrant its inception. A large body of directors and shareholders, it is stated, were ready to support the scheme, but they were outnumbered by other European owners and native owners. There is little more to be said. This difficulty of bringing the scattered rubber interests together has all along been recognised as the great factor in all attempts to "legislate" for the rubber industry.

The 5½ per Cent. First Cumulative Preference Shares of the Anglo-Argentine Tramways Co. were changing hands on Wednesday at 50/9, at which price they appear cheap, the yield being £10 16/9 per cent. without making allowance for accrued interest. The dividend is payable in January and July, and it will be remembered that the arrears of dividend on the First Preference Shares for the three and a-half years ended December 31, 1920, were paid off during 1920, as well as one year's dividend on the Second Preferences. The gross traffic receipts for the first eight months of 1921 show an increase of £138,530 over the corresponding period of 1920, which promises well for future dividends.

New South Wales may be expected to come on the loan market shortly. The issue will be for a fairly heavy amount—some say £3,000,000, others £5,000,000.

The transfer books of the City of Dublin Steam Packet Company's Ordinary and Preference Stocks will be closed on Wednesday, 19th instant, until after the date of the half-yearly meeting of the proprietors, of which meeting notice will be given.

As the Seletar Rubber Estates Co., Ltd., requires further working capital, the directors have come to the conclusion that reconstruction is necessary. The scheme formulated recommends the formation of a new company with a nominal capital of £75,000, divided into 750,000 shares of 2/- each. The liquidator of the present company would have the right to call for an allotment of 750,000 shares of 2/- each in the new company credited with the sum of 1/3 per share, leaving an unpaid liability of 9d. per share payable over six months.

IDLE STOCKS.

WEAKER TONE AT CLOSE.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

A firm tendency again prevailed at the opening of the markets yesterday, a minor, but none the less welcome, factor of encouragement being the prompt closing of the lists for the Mersey Power Company's new issue a few hours after the appearance of the prospectus in the morning papers. Subsequently the tone weakened somewhat on the official announcement of no change in the Bank rate, and continued not quite so good up to the close.

LONDON STOCKS FLAT.

DEPRESSED TONE.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

On the Stock Markets no surprise was expressed at the fact that no change was made in the Bank rate. The tone was generally depressed, except in the gilt-edged securities. Oils were a feature, Mexican Eagles again being freely offered. Kaffirs were weak, owing to the fall in the price of gold. Consols were steady and unchanged. The 5 p.c. War Loan after being higher closed 1/16 lower at 89½. Victory Bonds were ¼ up at 76½. The Treasury Bonds issue was firm, and showed a rise of 1/16 at 97⅝. Irish Land Stock rose ⅛ to 48⅝.

Chinese Bonds, among FOREIGN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES were good, and the 5 p.c. 1896, with the 5 p.c. 1912 were each a point up at 84 and 69, respectively. Japanese Bonds were dull. The 4 p.c. dropped 1 to 91½. Brazilians were quiet. The 4 p.c. marked a decline of a point to 49. Mexicans were also flat, and the 6 p.c. lost 1½ to 59. Russia 5 p.c. fell 1 to 6½. Portuguese rose ½ to 23. French Loans and German Threes were unchanged.

HOME RAILS showed signs of recovery, and advances, if not considerable, were general. Central London rose 1 to 49½; Lancashire and Yorkshire 1 to 47, Metropolitans 1 to 24½. Great Northern Def. rose ½ to 24½, and South-Eastern Def. ½ to 21. Chatham Ord. rose ⅛ to 5⅝.

In FOREIGN RAILS "Canpacs" were dull, and lost 2 at 149. Grand Trunks were dull, and little dealt in, but there was a rise of ½ to 8½ in the Second Pref. Argentines resumed their downward tendency, and "B.A.G.S." fell 1½ to 53, Pacifics 1 to 35½, Western 1½ to 53, and Centrals 1½ to 50. Bahia Blanca fell 1 to 49. Mexican Rails were dull, and the 8 p.c. lost 1 at 39. San Paulo lost another 3 to 106. United of Havana and Entre Rios Ord. each lost ½.

MINING MARKET DULL.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Yesterday the "House" was again in a despondent mood. At any rate, there was very little cheerfulness in the speculative departments, and, where any activity was noticeable, it was of an unwelcome character. Persistent offering of Mines in the early hours gave this section a heavy appearance. Willing purchasers were difficult to discover, and dribbling out of Paris favourites accentuated the depression. To add to its troubles, the Kaffir market had to face a further heavy drop in the price of gold, a loss of 1s. 1d. to £5 8s. 7d. per oz. being recorded. As the day wore on the position became somewhat easier, realisations ceased and quotations picked up a trifle, but the reaction was not very pronounced, and, although final prices were here and there above the lowest, the list presented a very one-sided appearance, not a single gain in "Kaffirs" on the day being recorded. Closing prices:—

HEAVY OILS.

SMALL HOLDERS SELLING.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Despite the more hopeful signs noticeable towards the close on Wednesday, Oil shares, and in particular, Mexican Eagles, suffered from renewed liquidation yesterday, further heavy lines being thrown on the market, while, judging by the numerous small lots which came out, it is becoming obvious that the continued fall is having the effect of causing considerable alarm among small holders, and leading them to realise. Paris, which has shown such remarkable absorptive powers of late, the buying from that centre being reported to be mainly on American account, has apparently had its demands satisfied for the time being, and, instead of buying, French operators sold yesterday, this factor making for further depression. In sympathy with Mexican Eagles, other leading issues gave way, and the whole list had a very heavy appearance at the conclusion of business. Opening dull at 3 13/16, Mexican Eagles gradually fell away to 3 9/16, at which a decline of 3/16 was recorded, the New shares losing a like amount at 3 11/16, but the Prefs. displayed more resistance, the loss in these shares amounting to 1/16 at 3⅞. Shells suffered more severely than of late, declining 3/16 to 4 5/16, and Royal Dutch, in the absence of Amsterdam support, receded 1½ to 35½. Burmahs developed a distinctly heavy tone, the shares giving way ¼ to 4 11/16, while Anglo-Persian First Prefs. were slightly easier at 21s. 3d. Closing prices:—

INDUSTRIALS WEAK.

COURTAULDS BETTER.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Dulness characterised the Miscellaneous and Industrial market yesterday, and in some quarters a certain amount of liquidation was witnessed. Oilcakes were a flat market, and numerous minor declines took place among Miscellaneous trading descriptions. Iron and Steels exhibited a sagging tendency, and in the Shipping list P. and O. Def. fell away again. Courtaulds, however, finished higher on the day in contrast to the general dulness, but other Textile issues were rather inclined to ease. After the fall of the past few days Courtaulds were inclined to go better yesterday, and finished 6d. higher at 33s. Elsewhere in the Textile group, Dyestuffs Ord. and Pref. eased 1/16 to 1/16 and 1/16 respectively, and Coats receded to 46s. Amalgamated Cottons at 11s. 6d., Sewing Cottons at 1 7/16, and Spinners at 1 11/16 all held their ground, and British Cellulose were firm at 3s. Cook, Son, and Co. Ord. and Pref. continued at 12s. 6d. and 17s. respectively, but Stores were off colour, Harrods and B.A. shares both losing 3d. at 24s. and 10s. 6d. respectively, while J. Barker receded to 32s. 6d. x.d., and Whiteleys were marked down to 26s. x.d., after being 25s. 7½d. x.d. Except for a further decline of 1/16 in Hudson's Bays to 5½ and of 1/32 in Pekin Shansi to 11/32 the Land section was steady, British North Borneo being maintained at 12s. despite the decreased dividend. In the Miscellaneous Trading section, Oilcakes were subject to realisations, the price falling to 24s.

LEVER PREFS. LOWER.

Lever issues were weaker, the 7 p.c. being down to 13s. 10½d. and the 8 p.c. to 13s. 9d. Dunlops were hardly so good at 6s. 9d., and De Treys fell to 15s. 6d. Crosse and Blackwells continued their decline, finishing at 7s. 3d., and Parent Tyres lost 1/16 at 1 7/16. Wallpaper Def. were a few pence weaker at 5s. Exceptionally to the general decline, Borax Def. put on 6d. to 30s. 6d. Motor descriptions were on the dull side, Denis receding to 22s., and Vauxhalls to 7s. 6d. B.A.T. exhibited weakness at 3 1/16, but Imperials were maintained at 49s., while Canadians rose to 17s. 6d., and A. Bakers to 19s. Foodstuffs were quietly firm, Maypoles rising 3d. to 7s. 4½d. x.d., and Van Den Berghs being maintained at 1¼. Liptons gained the turn at 17s. 9d. among Caterers, and J. Lyons were steady at 2 11/16. Marconis were noticeably weak in the Wireless section, the Ord. being 1/16 lower at 1 13/32, and the Pref. ⅛ at 1 7/16, while Marines were slightly lower at 1 1/16. Cables were fairly steady.

IRON SHARES SAGGING.

Iron and Steels exhibited a sagging tendency under the lead of Swan Hunters, which lost 1s. at 26s., B.S.A. on dividend fears were only 7s. 6d., and Ebbw Vale were slightly lower at 15s. 3d. Bolckow Vaughan lost 6d. at 17s., but Armstrongs were slightly harder at 17s. x.d. Vickers were maintained at 12s., and the tax free Pref. at 13s. Norths Navigation receded to 5s. 6d. among Coal Stocks. Shipping Securities were fairly steady, except for a further decline of 5 points to 355 in P. and O. Def. and of a point in Indo-China Def. to 38. General Electrics were a weak spot among Electric Lighting descriptions, and the new County of London Electric Debs. were easier at 2¼ prem. Imperial Continental Gas were 5 points higher at 132½, other gas securities remaining unaltered. In the Insurance group, City Equitable New Pref. were in demand at around 17s. 10½d.

RUBBER SHARES NEGLECTED.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The Rubber share market was dull and neglected. Changes were very few and not of much importance. Anglo-Malay rose 6d. to 20s. 6d., Highlands 1s. 3d. to 28s. 9d., Kepitigalla 6d. to 5s. 1½d., Sungei Bahru 1s. 3d. to 11s. 3d., and Tebrau 1s. 7½d. to 19s. 9d. Anglo-Ceylon lost 7½d. to 45s., Grand Central 1s. 3d. to 14s., and Telogoredjo 1s. 3d. to 26s. 3d. Closing prices:—

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

PARENT TYRE COMPANY.—The directors of the Parent Tyre Company announce that the yearly dividends on the company's 5 per cent. Cum. Pref. and 8 per cent. Cum. Ord. Shares to 31st August, 1921, will be paid after the annual general meeting. A distribution at the rate of 25 per cent. per annum on the company's Def. Shares will be recommended to be paid after the receipt by the company of the dividends accrued to August 31st last on its holding of Dunlop "C" Cum. Pref. Shares. The directors desire to state that important negotiations of a nature advantageous to the company are in progress, and as these cannot be concluded until the end of October, the holding of the annual general meeting will be postponed until then.

DR. LEVY'S DEPORTATION.

A petition was sent to the Premier yesterday against the deportation of Dr. Oscar Levy. A similar petition was lodged at the Home Office. An intimation was given that the Government would not compel Dr. Levy to leave on Monday next, it being desired to give him sufficient time to recover his health, and to investigate various statements made in the Press regarding his actual position. No definite extension of time has been granted.

MARKET REPORTS.

CATTLE.

DUBLIN METROPOLITAN, North Circular road, Thursday.—Supplies of stock on market this morning did not vary materially from the numerical strength of last week's gathering. Numbers, however, had no swaying influence whatever on the trend of business, as the lukewarm disposition of buyers did not bring them into competitive opposition with each other. Ultimately, too, it was found that the trade practicable was barely equal to the absorption of half the amount of cattle put forward, and scarcely more than one-third the sheep and lambs entered. The cheaper and drooping tendency of values and normal railway and steamboat facilities, brought more buyers in, but many of them still found prices a misfit to cross-Channel districts; operations, therefore, in that direction were somewhat limited. Altogether the market remains dull and depressed throughout, even for the choicer descriptions of stock; the bottom prices of last day might be reckoned top currencies this morning. For general run of cattle terms were another 20/- to 40/- per head lower, and for sheep, perhaps 3/- to 5/- or 7/6 each worse, but some classes of heavy and coarse sheep were almost impossible to place apart from the question of price. Lambs a wretchedly poor trade, and in reflex of Ballinasloe and other leading fairs buyers offered very low prices.

Numbers on Offer.

	This week as compared with last.			Corresponding weeks of 1920.	1919.
Cattle	4,706	Decrease	240	3,162	4,950
Sheep and lambs	8,152	Increase	9	6,171	7,334
Veal calves	8	Increase	3	5	5

The beast trade opened in much the same apathetic and depressed state as previously. Shippers best terms to weigh for choice bullocks was 55/-, but in hand sales prime heifers and oxen were from 54/- to 56/6 and 57/6; in a few fancy cases up to 60/- per cwt., leaving polled Angus and such fancy exceptions out of the question. Good medium cattle were from 50/- to 53/- per cwt., and commoner types back to about 47/6 per cwt. Beef cows harder than ever to realise, prices running from 27/6 to 42/6, and exceptionally nice specimens 45/- per cwt., on foot, also as with other classes of cattle, there was a biggish surplus of good, middling, and common grades failing to place.

The sheep market continues of a most dragging and depressed nature, business being very limited, and practically confined to local requirements. The nicer selections of handy weighted hoggets and wethers made from 10d. to 11d. per lb., and Cheviot wethers perhaps 11½d. per lb. It would be an exceptionally nice quality sheep to-day that would make from £4 to £4 10/- or £4 12/6. Ordinary and inferior sheep anywhere from 8d. to 9½d. per lb.; and, as before stated, perhaps more than half the market was carried over unsold. The same remarks apply to lambs. The results of the Ballinasloe sales had a more disastrous effect than ever on the lamb trade here to-day, and shippers were offering as low as 20/- per head, whilst not disposed to pass 40/- or 45/- for prime lambs. For local trade, butchers sought really good lambs at 40/- to 50/- each, although in a few fancy cases up to 60/- and 70/- was paid for specially selected lots. Veal calves were 8, and made 10d to 11½d. per lb.

DUBLIN DAIRY (North Circular road), Thursday.—About 265 milch cattle on market. Trade still dull and depressed, and with small money obtainable for beef cows dairymen procured fresh stockers on cheaper terms. Prime springers and fresh-calved cows, £35 to £42; ordinary, £28 to £32; others, £17 to £26 each.

DUBLIN PIG (North Circular road), Thursday.—The number of pigs marketed this morning was practically a repetition of last Thursday's register, viz, 1,084 head. Fair attendance of buyers, but not disposed to seriously compete against each other, whilst offering much lower terms than previously. Altogether the market proved tedious to negotiate at acutely depressed currencies, representing a fall of from 20/- to 30/- per head on average run of hogs. For best sizeable to stout bacon weights rates were around £5 to 5 guineas per cwt., and occasionally fancy lots, perhaps £5 10/-; heavier types from £4 to £4 15/- and £4 17/6 per cwt., and coarser in wider proportion; sow pigs, 45/- to 65/- per cwt., average, on foot or live weight; bonhams, 26/- upwards, and slips 45/- upwards.

BIRMINGHAM, Thursday.—A moderate supply of pigs. Business quiet to fair, with late reduced rates, sows only having a little easier tendency. Quotations, per score, dead weight:—Bacons, 20/-; small pigs, ditto, and sows, 16/-.

BRISTOL, Thursday.—Fair supply of beef at 130/- to 135/- per cwt. Moderate supply of mutton—Wethers, 14d.; Irish lamb, 15d.; English, 16d. per lb. No pigs. About 700 store cattle; trade slow at late rates; not all sold. Milch cows, £25 to £35, and up to £50 per head.

YORK, Thursday.—A small show of Irish cattle, mostly left over from last week; more English than last week; trade still slow and depressing, and no improvement on late rates. Fewer dairy cattle, late rates being just maintained, but no upward tendency. Large supplies of sheep, with a good entry of rams; prices about the same as previous market.

HEGARTY AND KELLY'S REPORT.—Hegarty and Kelly report slightly improved demand for top quality cattle in Glasgow Market to-day (Wednesday), but secondary sorts met a slow trade at prices similar to last week. Sheep and lambs in active request, and the turn dearer. Telegrams: "Hegarty, Glasgow."—275 Duke street, Glasgow, 5th October, 1921.—(Advt.)

Lever's Palm Nut Cake and Meal. Steel Shelters suitable for Garages, Cart or Cattle Sheds.—Wm. Rourke, 36 North Circular road, Dublin.—(Advt.)

GRAIN.

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES.—BALTIC, Thursday—WHEAT—Cargoes idle, and 1/- to 2/- down for most descriptions; No. 1 Northern Manitoba Oct.-Nov. sellers, 58/-, white Walla ditto 59/-, red 57/6, Australian due 62/-. Parcels flat; No. 1 Northern Manitoba Oct. sellers 56/6, Jan., sold 56/3, No. 2 hard winter Oct. sellers 55/6, Australian new crop Dec.-Jan. 57/- per 480lbs. MAIZE dull, and lower; Plate steamers afloat sellers 32/- Oct.-Nov. 33/6, Dec.-Jan. 34/6; parcels Plate Oct.-Nov. sold 30/6 to 30/3, Nov.-Dec. 31/3 per 480lbs. BARLEY inactive, and quite nominal. OATS idle; Plate f.a.q. afloat nominally 22/6, October-November 23/- to 22/6, October-November 23/- per 320lbs.

LIVERPOOL, Thursday.—The heavy slump in Winnipeg and the Argentine had a depressing effect on WHEAT here, and c.i.f. parcels gave way 2/- to 2/6 per quarter; No. 1 Manitoba October-November 56/- to 55/6, No. 2 hard winter afloat 53/6 to 53/-. October-November 53/6 to Liverpool, and 53/6 afloat to Manchester. C.i.f. parcels were lower under the same influences as wheat, but reliable quotations difficult to ascertain. Wheat on the spot continued neglected, and prices considerably lower all round. MAIZE—Spot parcels quiet and offered at 1½d. to 2d. p.c. decline; American mixed quoted 6/7½ to 6/8½ and River Plate 6/9½ to 6/10½ p.c. FLOUR neglected at late rates. Graded red wheat futures, after opening 3d. per cental lower, continued to give way with bulls unloading, with but slight fluctuations until 6½d. below last night had been registered, but finished steady at 6d. per cental loss on the day. Sales 150 loads at 11/11 to 11/10½, 11/8¼, 11/7½, 11/8 for December values; October 11/7, December and March 11/8 per cental. Yellow River Plate maize options influenced by the sharp decline in the Argentine showed 1½d. loss at the outset, and further receded on pressure to sell until 4½d. loss had been registered, closing weak thereat. Sales—50 loads at 6/9½ down to 6/6½ for November delivery. Values—October 6/5, November 6/6½ per cental. American mixed maize futures nominally 2½d. to 2½d. lower; values, October 6/5, November 6/6 per cental.

MANCHESTER, Thursday.—Market exceedingly dull. Foreign wheat irregular; about 3d. per cental lower on the week. English slow, 45/- to 50/- per 504lbs. on rail. Mixed American corn 6/10 per cental. Oats lower; Lincolnshire 26/- per 336lbs., Canadian Western 31/- per 320lbs.

BRISTOL, Thursday.—English wheat firm, supply realising rather less money; foreign slow. In sympathy with American market, prices have shown downward tendency. Grinding barley and maize 1/- to 2/- cheaper. Oats dull, favouring buyers. Flour slightly lower.

PROVISIONS.

LIVERPOOL, Thursday.—BACON—Live hogs at Chicago showed a further improvement, but, with receipts heavier than expected, speculative products were again generally on a lower level, but there was no relief to the apathetic feeling in all descriptions of bacon here. Holders again showed anxiety to reduce stocks, and offered freely on easy terms, without tempting buyers, who operated from hand to mouth, clear bellies being taken but only to a limited extent. HAMS continued to be freely offered, and prices ruled irregular in the small sales recorded. Shoulders remained quiet for squares and New Yorks, with a few picnics said to be changing hands. Canadian Wiltshires quietly steady, best selections not being too plentiful. Irish bacon met a moderate inquiry for medium averages, but light and heavy weights in excess of requirements. Continental in only moderate request, without material change. LARD on the spot lower in sympathy with easier c.i.f. quotations, but there is more demand for boxes of American refined at the decline. Prime steam quoted 73/- to 74/-, American refined in pails 77/9, and boxes 75/6 to 77/6 cwt. CHEESE continued quiet, and, with further easier Canadian cables, prices are now quoted 100/- to 104/- for New Zealand, 103/- to 105/- States, and 103/- to 106/- Canadian. BUTTER quiet at about late prices. EGGS show a further advance, with Irish 28/6 to 30/- and Canadian 26/6 to 27/6 per 120.

PATRICK KEHOE, Ltd., Irish Bacon Curers and Lard Refiners. Importers of American Provisions. (Estd. 100 years.)—103 FRANCIS ST., DUBLIN.—(Advt.)

REFINED LARD FUTURES.—LIVERPOOL, Thursday.—Following lower quotations from Chicago offerings were made more freely, and with buyers reserved prices here receded to the extent of 9d. to 1/- per cwt., during the early session; business covered October at 72/6, 72/-, 72/3, November 70/6 to 70/3, and Jan. 66/- to 65/6, with sellers of Dec. 68/- per cwt. Second afternoon cable was more encouraging, and caused sellers to be more reserved, prices recovering partially and closing only 6d. to 9d. lower on the day; October sold 71/9 to 72/6, November 70/-, January 65/9, 66/-, and 65/9 per cwt.

DUBLIN FRUIT AND VEGETABLE, Thursday.—Apples remain difficult to keep cleared; boxes, 2/- to 3/3; barrels of ordinary apples, 5/- to 13/-; kegs, 5/- to 9/6. Vegetables continue plentiful; prices still irregular and wide, generally coming cheaper. York cabbage, 7/- to 15/-, 20/-, 30/-, and 36/- per load; tomatoes, 4d. to 7d. per lb.; cucumbers, 2/- to 2/10 and 4/- per dozen; celery, 1/3 to 2/- and 2/6 per bundle, special 4/- and 5/- ditto; Swede turnips 1/4 to 2/- per cwt.; white turnips, 2d. to 4d. per bundle; carrots, 1/4 to 1/8 per dozen bundles.

DUBLIN FISH, Thursday.—There was a large market of steamer fish, in nice order, totalling 355 boxes, from two vessels, but local hook take and country arrivals were all small; 20 chests lobsters, 50 or 60 boxes herrings, and 16 of mackerel also came in. Trade slow and disappointing; Some herrings and other stale stuff confiscated. Leading sales averaged:—First pick lobsters, 10/- to 15/- per 13; seconds, 5/- to 7/6; smalls, etc., 2/- to 4/- per 13; turbot, 2/- to 15/- and 21/- each; brill, 6d. to 4/- and 5/- each; best soles, 30/- to 40/- per 8 and 9 pairs; mediums, 20/- to 30/-; slips, 10/- to 15/- per 9 pairs; large plaice, 6/- to 8/- per 4; others, 4/- to 6/- and 8/- per 8; half-boxes of plaice, 25/- to 45/-, 100/-, and 140/-; white soles, 40/- to 55/-; codfish, 30/- to 60/-; hake, 40/- to 70/-; pollock, and ling, 10/- to 12/- and 15/-; haddock, 20/- to 30/-; conger eels, 10/- to 15/-; whiting, 10/- to 15/-, poor sorts down to 2/6; ray, 12/6 to 20/-; gurnard, 2/- to 6/-, selected large 10/- to 15/-; mackerel, 5/- to 7/6; herrings, sound, 10/- to 20/- per box.

BILLINGSGATE FISH, Thursday.—Supply liberal; fair demand. Soles, 18d. to 22d.; slips, 18d. to 23d. per lb.; live eels, 15/- to 30/-; dead, 20/- per draft; turbot, 7/- to 9/-; brill, 7/- to 8/6; plaice, 7/- to 9/-; halibut, 13/-; lemon soles, 10/- to 12/-; whitches, 6/- to 7/-; cod, 4/6 to 5/-; whiting, 2/- to 4/-; hake, 8/-; haddock, 3/- to 4/6 per stone.

GRIMSBY FISH, Thursday.—Sixty North Sea trawlers and two liners landed good supply; demand fair. Plaice, 9/- to 10/-; lemon soles, 10/-; halibut, 12/- to 14/-; cod, 4/- to 6/-; skate, 5/- to 6/-; hake, 9/6; small haddocks, 1/9; kit, 3/9; gibbed, 4/-; dabs, 6/- to 8/-; codlings, 4/- per stone; turbot, 7d.; brill, 8d. per lb.

KILLORGLIN MARKETS.—Butter, 8d. per lb; eggs, £1 2/- per 120 (2/3 per dozen); potatoes, 8d. per stone.

DUBLIN POTATO, Thursday.—Ample supplies of County Dublin potatoes continue to come in, and, with some country offers, in face of a limited and dragging trade, values have been put back 6d. per cwt. City rates now 5/6 to 6/- per cwt.

LONDON POTATO, Thursday.—Heavy arrivals met slow demand; prices easy for lower grades. Best siltland King Edwards, 10/6 to 11/-; Lincoln British Queens, 10/6; Majestic, 10/- to 10/6; silt Evergoods, 7/- to 8/6; blackland King Edwards, 9/- to 10/-; ditto Evergoods, 6/6 to 8/- per cwt.

LONDON CENTRAL MEAT, Thursday.—Beef easier—Scotch long sides, 8/4 to 8/8; short, 9/4 to 10/-; English, 6/8 to 7/-; Argentine chilled and frozen forequarters, 3/-; hindquarters, 4/8. Mutton easier for the lower grades—Scotch wethers, 6/8 to 7/4; English, 6/- to 7/-; ewes, 4/- to 4/8; frozen, 3/10 to 4/6. Lamb easier—English, 6/8 to 7/8.

PRODUCE.

LONDON, Thursday.—SUGAR—Fair trade doing in British goods at recent rates: Tates's cubes 57/3 to 58/3, granulated 52/- to 52/6, castor 54/6 to 55/-, pieces 38/- for brown, up to 47/6 fine white; Lyles granulated 52/- to 52/3, yellow crystals 47/6, crystallised West India 41/- to 46/-. American granulated spot 51/-. Term market quiet. COFFEE—Spot market steady, and there is a fair demand for the better sorts; futures steady, quiet. TEA—In auction some 3,850 packages Java Sumatra offered met a good demand, and all useful tippy lots brought full prices. RICE quite idle and nominal here, though very firm in local Eastern markets. BEANS dull. SPICE—Pepper steady; quiet. JUTE remains very dull, and, in the absence of proper support, quotations are more or less nominal. Hessians and twills steady, but slow. HEMP—Manila quietly steady; New Zealand fair. SHELLAC—Market easier; T.N. October 325/-, December 320/- per cwt. COPRA—Market easier. RUBBER fully steady, with fair inquiries; standard crepe and sheet spot sold 9½d. to 9¾d., November-December 9⅝d., and January-March 10¼d., April-June 11d., fine hard Para spot 1/1, ball 7d. per lb. MENTHOL—August-September steamer sold 20/- per lb. c.f.i.; crude camphor spot buyers 2/9 per lb. OILS—Linseed unsettled; spot 29/6. Rape—Crude spot 54/-. Cotton—Crude spot 48/-. Turpentine steady. Petroleum and resin unaltered. OILSEED—Linseed flat. Rapeseed dull. Cottonseed idle.

CLYDE CRUSHED SUGAR, Thursday.—Official Report—Good business doing at steady prices.

THE MONEY MARKET.

BANK RATE UNCHANGED.

FURTHER FALL IN GOLD AND SILVER.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The directors of the Bank of England at their meeting yesterday decided to make no change in the official minimum, which remains at 5½ p.c., to which it was reduced on July 21. The expected ease in the Money market, as a result of Treasury borrowing on ways and means to meet dividend and other payments, is beginning to make itself felt, and loans over the night were obtainable, apart from the joint stock banks, which still charge 4 p.c., at 3½ down to 3 p.c., and the market repaid with ease the moderate amount which fell due at the Bank.

The price of gold fell 1s. 1d. to 108s. 7d. per oz. fine. Bar silver was ¼d. down for cash and forward delivery at 41½d. and 41d. per oz. respectively.

In foreign exchanges New York rose in our favour, and at the close of public business cables were nearly 2 cents higher compared with the late rate on Wednesday night. During the day they have been over 3.79. The Paris cheque did not finish at the lowest, but showed an improvement of about 10 centimes in favour of France, while the Brussels cheque moved in a similar way. German marks were worth about 10 to the £ more than they were on Wednesday. The Christiania rate recovered in favour of Norway, but Copenhagen has apparently halted in its fall for the time being.

BANK OF ENGLAND RETURN.

LOWER RESERVE.

The Bank rate was not changed yesterday, for which course abundant justification is found in the figures contained in the weekly return. Extensive borrowing on Ways and Means for the purpose of paying off Exchequer Bonds and disbursing quarterly dividends has sent Government securities up by £25,180,578. "Other" securities are higher by £4,454,199, and public deposits have been increased by £7,035,064, while an addition of £22,351,282 has been made to the "other" deposits. Owing mainly to an expansion of £694,110 in the active note circulation, the reserve is reduced by £694,636, and, consequent upon the swollen nature of the deposits, the ratio of reserve to liabilities has fallen 4 7/16 to 14 1/16 p.c. Currency note circulation shows a contraction of £1,028,864, Bankers' earnings are £200,000,000 up on the week.

The following is the official return for the week ending October 5:—

ISSUE DEPARTMENT.

MISCELLANEOUS.

LONDON, Thursday.—Liberal supplies moved off slowly at late rates. Best meadow hay quoted at £8; medium, £6; inferior, £5; best clover, £8 10/-; best mixtures, £8; while straw ranges from 85/- to 95/-, according to quality and description, all per ton, delivered in.

MANCHESTER, Thursday.—On the Produce Exchange a quiet feeling continues. No great change in quotations. Straw easier. Quotations:—Lincolnshire ryegrass and clover, old and new, £7 10/-; Cheshire ditto, £6 5/- to £6 15/-; meadow hay, £4 10/- to £5 10/-; wheaten and oaten straw, 55/- per ton, all delivered Manchester.

LIVERPOOL COTTON (Closing), Thursday.—American quiet. Brazilian quotation reduced 87 points. East Indian quotations reduced 50 points. Egyptian—Moderate demand. October, 13.82d.; November, 13.58d.; December, 13.43d.; January, 13.33d.; February, 13.18d.; March, 13.04d. Sales—12,000. Imports—808 bales. Market steady.

BRADFORD, Thursday.—Merino topmakers are fully booked up to Christmas, and many of them have either withdrawn quotations or are quoting prohibitive prices. Fine crossbreds are in excellent demand, and medium crossbreds are moving more freely. There is no unemployment amongst wool sorters and only a little amongst combers. Botany spinners mostly running at least five days a week.

LONDON FREIGHTS—Thursday.

Fixtures—Arachachu, 5,000 tons, San Lorenzo to U.K.-Continent, 14th to 31st October, 20/-, option lower ports 18/9, heavy grain; Peninsular, 30,000 qrs., American Northern range to Marseilles or Genoa, 10th to 20th November, 5/1½ per qr., heavy grain; Innerton, 32,000 qrs., Montreal to U.K., spot, 4/3 per qr., option Continent 16½ cents per 100lbs., heavy grain.

BIRD COURTSHIP.

CEREMONIES IN THE ARCTIC.

New light is thrown on the manner in which the little-known birds in the Arctic regions carry on their courtships by the Rev. F. C. R. Jourdain, leader of the Spitzbergen expedition this year.

On this expedition 300 skins and 500 eggs of many species were collected for biological purposes.

Among the several small mysteries that have not yet been cleared up concerning the birds at Spitzbergen, where the explorer has to run the risk of getting frozen in, are—Where the Spitzbergen ptarmigans went to this year; the status of the snowy owl; and the life of the long-tailed skua.

Describing (in "Nature") the courtships of the crested grebe, Mr. Jourdain says they have special courting ceremonies.

"The birds submerge the whole body, except the breast; the neck is thrust slightly forward, and the head held out so that the appearance is that of a miniature plesiosaur. In this attitude the birds plough through the water as if running races.

"Most remarkable of all, it appears almost certain that two females may thus compete for a single male, and two males for a female."

Mr. Julian S. Huxley, writing about the courtships of the red-throated diver, says:—"After the birds have mated for the season, elaborate courtship ceremonies take place between the mated pair. At times the two birds swim near each other with necks arched and the open beak half-submerged, uttering a special cry.

"At other times one bird will dive all round and about the other, sometimes emerging almost vertically."

One conclusion reached as a result of the expedition is that the oil engine in the Arctic regions has already affected the fauna considerably, and will probably do so even more.

GERMAN WAR PLANS.

KAISER'S ILLUSIONS.

Illuminating disclosures bearing on the origin of the great war are given by a friend of General von Moltke. The friend is Dr. Steines, who detailed the facts to M. Jules Sauerwein, of the Matin (says an Exchange message).

German war plans on France were 15 years old, and remained unchanged until just before the attack in 1914. These plans provided for a simultaneous attack on Belgium and Holland, but Von Moltke, who was Chief of the Staff in 1914, omitted Holland, so that Germany, in case of a blockade, might have breathing space.

Direct proof that the Kaiser believed England would remain neutral is given by the disclosures.

On Saturday, July 31, Von Moltke found the Kaiser with Bethmann-Hollweg, who was literally trembling, Falkenhayn, and several other generals. The Kaiser was denouncing the plan of his Chief of Staff, and said he had received better news from England. Not only would England remain neutral, he said, but would prevent France from making war.

In these circumstances the logical plan was to throw all his forces against Russia. He was deaf to all objections.

Von Moltke had no faith in the news from England, and he withdrew at the first opportunity, leaving the rest in confusion.

SON'S ACTION FAILS.

In the King's Bench, London, yesterday, Mr. Justice Avory dismissed, with costs, the action brought by Mr. Vyvyan Stuart against his father, Mr. Herbert Stanley Stuart, of Knoll, Woldingham, Surrey, claiming damages for harbouring the plaintiff's wife and encouraging her to live apart from him.

Giving evidence, the defendant said that there was not a word of truth in his son's suggestion that he (the defendant) was keeping the wife from his son. He regarded her as a daughter.

Giving judgment, his lordship said that he had come to the conclusion that if there had been what was known technically as harbouring, the defendant had the most ample legal justification. He was satisfied that, in providing a home for the plaintiff's wife, the defendant was actuated by motives of charity and humanity as her father-in-law.

The plaintiff had made no case at all. His lordship found, as a fact, that there was no foundation for the plaintiff's suggestion, and said that he was glad to have given the defendant an opportunity of denying it in the witness box. His lordship also found that the defendant honestly believed that the wife had been ill-treated by her husband, and was unwilling to return to him.

The judge added that wherever the evidence of plaintiff conflicted with that of defendant, he did not hesitate to say that he accepted the evidence of the defendant and rejected that of the plaintiff.

LORD DERBY AND THE OPEN DOOR.

Lord Derby, speaking at Lancaster, urged that the future aims of the Unionist Party should be broad.

The door should be kept open wide enough to allow those now standing with them to join their ranks in a common fight against the common foe—the forces of disorder.

"We should have on our side," he added, "order and constitutionalism, and also rational reform. A policy could be formulated which would hold the Unionist Party as we knew it together, and which would include many who before the war were opposed to us."

He cared not who were the leaders so long as the policy was one to which he could subscribe.

COMPENSATION CLAIMS IN CLARE.

When taking up some compensation claims at Ennis Quarter Sessions yesterday, Judge Bodkin said that he had received a letter from County Inspector Attridge, R.I.C., in reply to his inquiries, saying that Proclamation No. 3 was still in force. Part of this proclamation enacted that all cases in respect of which damage was alleged to have been done by Forces of the Crown were suspended until further order.

His Honor said that he had his doubts about the proclamation, and he was aware that the Superior Courts, though they were on a different footing to his Court, had heard compensation claims. What governed him was the convenience of all parties concerned. He had decided not to hear any claim in respect of damage or injury alleged to have been done by Forces of the Crown.

Tuam Guardians have decided to re-advertise their meat contract, as the lowest tender received quoted 1s. 4d. a pound, which the Guardians considered was too high. The Guardians have contracted for creamery butter at 2s. 3d. a pound, but our Correspondent says that it was sold at the last Gort market for 10d.

THE GUARANTEE OF EXPERIENCE

FACTS ANSWER FEARS.

FEARS—THAT THE RED ARMY WILL SEIZE THE FOOD SENT TO THE STARVING MILLIONS IN RUSSIA.

FACTS—1. DR. NANSEN SENT FOOD AND CLOTHES TO 60,000 WAR PRISONERS IN SOVIET RUSSIA LAST WINTER. HE HOLDS RECEIPTS FROM THE PRISONERS FOR EVERY PARCEL SENT.

2.—MR. HOOVER'S ORGANISATION ALLOW US TO QUOTE RECENT CABLES:—"SOVIET AUTHORITIES CO-OPERATING WITH UTMOST GOODWILL."

"They are keeping trains intact from seaboard to interior destination."

"Workmen showing excellent spirit—without pilfering. After work they voluntarily searched each other, severely punishing only one man having pilfered supplies in his possession."

3.—THE FRIENDS' RELIEF COMMITTEE, AFTER 18 MONTHS IN RUSSIA, REPORT ONLY ½ of 1 p.c. OF SUPPLIES LOST (NO MORE THAN IN OTHER COUNTRIES). FOR THE ONE CONSIGNMENT LOST THEY WERE REPAID THE FULL VALUE BY CHEQUE IN LONDON BY THE SOVIET AUTHORITIES.

DELAY NO LONGER.

Donations should be sent at once to the Hon. Treasurer, Russian Famine Relief Fund, Fishmongers' Hall, London, E.C. 4.
